Europe Tour Sparks Defence Fuss

OTTAWA (CP) — A decision by the Commons committee on defence and external affairs to proceed on a European tour before producing a report for Parliament was sharply denounced Wednesday by one of its members.

David Anderson, (L—Esquimalt-Saanich), suggested in an interview that the committee is being lax in proposing to make its report after rather than before its journey to Europe, scheduled for March 8-22.

He said it appears "extremely unlikely" the government will give any weight to the committee's report in its final formulation of Canadian policy toward NATO if the report is not submitted until March 26, the present deadline.

Prime Minister Trudeau has said the government would like to make its decision on NATO as far as possible in advance of the alliance's

Washington meeting which begins April 10.

However, under Commons questioning by Anderson last Friday, he disclosed that the government had scrapped a March 15 deadline to allow the committee time to frame its report.

The committee has been carrying on its own extensive review of Canadian foreign and defence policy simultaneously with one being conducted within the external affairs department.

Victoria Curlers
Still Unbeaten

Gordie Moore and his Victoria Curling Club rink of Dick Pick, Laurie Ferietto and Joe Leibel won their fifth and sixth games Wednesday to stay ahead in the Canadian seniors' curling finals.

The unbeaten Victorians continued their streak of last-rock victories by defeating Prince Edward Island, 8-7, in an extra-end morning game and then scored a 7-6 victory over Alberta later.

Results kept Moore's rink half a game ahead of Ontario, which has won all five games. (See Page 14.)

Power Tug

● Old guard keeps reins in Israel. Page 5.

JERUSALEM (AP) — The sudden death of premier Levi Eshkol Wednesday has thrown Israel into an internal power struggle at one of the most critical times in the 20-year history of the state.

Alon

Some Arabs feared that the passing of Eshkol will turn loose the hawks. Arab-Israeli border incidents have recently escalated to alarming proportions.

Eshkol's death of a heart attack at 73 took the country by surprise, although he had suffered a heart attack Feb. 3 and been confined to his home since.

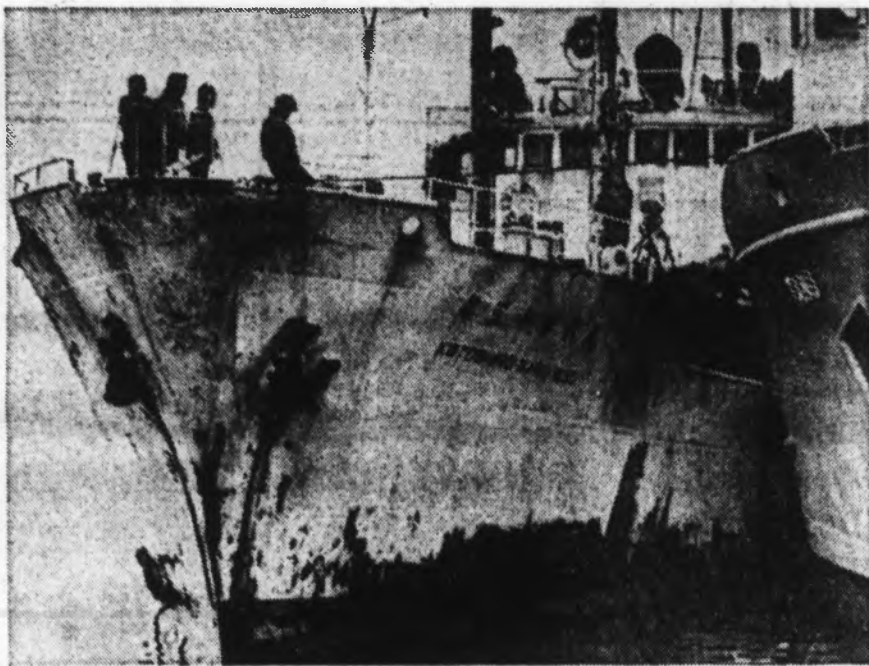

Eshkol's body will lie in state today at Parliament Square in front of the Knesset or parliament building here. He will be buried on Mount Herzl here following a state funeral Friday.

For the time being, Deputy Premier Yigal Alon, an Oxford-educated former major-general, is in charge.

But the Knesset, Israel's parliament, must elect a new government to run the country until the national elections in November. Obviously, whoever holds the premiership over these months will be heavily favored to stay in power for a full term of four years.

There are three main candidates for interim premier: Alon, Defence Minister Moshe Dayan and former foreign minister Golda Meir. Israel's ambassador to the United States, Yitzhak Rabin, is probably an

Probe Focus in San Francisco

Murder Weapon Target
As Divers Plunge Again

Divers returned Wednesday to the waters of the Inner Harbor at the foot of Fort Street, where they had found the body of missing Victoria businessman William Osland, 35, Tuesday afternoon.

They were "looking for anything that might be connected with the case, and that includes a murder weapon," said Ray Maitland, Victoria's deputy police chief.

Mr. Osland's body was found wrapped in plastic with a weight attached in 23 feet of water. He had been reported missing Feb. 3 by a business associate.

TWO INSPECTORS

The investigation shifted to San Francisco when two local police officers arrived by air in the California city. The murdered man was associated with a company that was renovating a former U.S. Navy supply ship. Preliminary work was done on the ship here and it left for San Francisco two days after Mr. Osland was reported missing.

San Francisco police said Wednesday two inspectors had been assigned to assist Victoria police with the investigation.

In San Francisco, manager for Diversified Management and Development Co., Eddy Vanzanten, said: "We have not been contacted by anyone from Victoria police so far, but the matter is so worrying that I will fly home Friday."

'CHARMING MAN'

The ship, formerly the Robert M. Emery, has been renamed the Sa Tarantino, in honor of a partner in the venture, Joseph C. Tarantino.

"Mr. Tarantino is a charming man and a cousin of the mayor of San Francisco," said David Hummel, president of DMD. Mr. Hummel said he was totally mystified by the circumstances surrounding Mr. Osland's death. He added, "I believe Det.-Sgt. Robin Stewart has done a most efficient job in investigating this case."

Mr. Hummel explained that a study had been done of all the companies in which Mr. Osland was involved and everything was found to be in excellent order.

An inquest will be opened at McCall Bros. funeral home at 7:30 p.m., Friday. Victoria Coroner Edmund Jorje de St. Jorre said medical evidence of the 165-foot Japanese vessel operating 9 1/2 miles off Hippa Island, on the western fringe of the Queen Charlotte Islands, Ottawa ordered the Tanu to arrest her.

With the international flag signal BFT—you are under arrest—fluttering from her yard-arm, the Tanu closed the Kotoshiro Maru and escorted her to Prince Rupert.

First Such Move
On West Coast

PRINCE RUPERT (CP) — Canada, flexing her maritime muscles, is holding a Japanese fishboat seized in British Columbia coastal waters for fishing inside the 12-mile limit.

The 480-ton Kotoshiro Maru arrived in this northern B.C. port Wednesday under escort of the Canadian fisheries protection vessel Tanu after being seized by the Tanu the day before off the Queen Charlotte Islands.

Jim Connor, protection officer for the department of fisheries here, said that if charges were laid conviction on indictment could result in a $25,000 fine while a summary conviction could bring a $5,000 fine.

Either conviction could result also in forfeiture of the vessel or the cargo of about 159 tons of fish.

FIRST TIME

It is the first time Canada has arrested a foreign deep-sea fishing vessel off the west coast since fishboats from other countries started ranging across the Pacific Ocean to harvest the fish-rich continental shelf.

In 1964, Canada passed legislation announcing a policy of a three-mile territorial sea and a further nine-mile fishing zone based on straight base lines drawn from headland to headland.

For two years, action against foreign fishboats was limited to warning vessels caught inside the 12-mile fishing zone. A Russian fishing fleet was escorted out of territorial waters in 1966 and fishing gear left inside the 12-mile limit by a Japanese boat last year was confiscated.

VICTORIA SKIPPER

The arrest Tuesday came when the Tanu's Captain Reg McLellan of 3527 Cardiff, Victoria, spotted the 165-foot Japanese vessel operating 9 1/2 miles off Hippa Island, on the western fringe of the Queen Charlottes.

Ottawa ordered the Tanu to arrest her.

Court Order

Firm
Bankrupt

VANCOUVER (CP) — A judge ruled Wednesday that Commonwealth Savings Plan Ltd., a member of the troubled Commonwealth group, "has committed an act of bankruptcy" and its affairs should be wound up.

Mr. Justice Gordon Rae of British Columbia Supreme Court authorized A. D. Peter Stanley, receiver-manager of five Commonwealth group firms, to wind up the company's business.

He adjourned applications from Mr. Stanley asking that two other companies, Commonwealth Acceptance Corp. Ltd. and Commonwealth Investors Syndicate Ltd., also be declared bankrupt.

Assets of the companies were frozen last November and Mr. Stanley was appointed receiver-manager as the B.C. government opened a full investigation of affairs of the Commonwealth Trust group.

The B.C. government has offered an interest-free, five-year loan of up to $3,000,000 to keep Commonwealth Trust afloat — provided it first raises at least $1,000,000 itself.

Mr. Stanley was in the Bahamas attempting to stop what he termed in court an attempt by A. G. Duncan Cruik, former president of Commonwealth Trust, to gain control of a lush estate there.

Mail Loot
May Hit
$500,000

MONTREAL (CP) — Police forces all over Montreal Island were looking for a 1960 black Buick containing six armed, masked men who stole mail that could be valued at up to $500,000 in a lunch-hour hold-up Wednesday.

The lightning-fast robbery took place at 12:45 p.m. in the CNR's downtown Central Station.

No shots were fired and no one was injured.

Police said the men got away with 12 mail bags including one full of registered mail that could amount to "between $50,000 and $500,000."

Schools

From CP

Blizzards buffeted most of Canada early Wednesday, with crippling snowfalls bypassing only British Columbia, Ontario, Prince Edward Island and Newfoundland.

Schools were closed and traffic was snarled in sections of Nova Scotia, large areas of Quebec and all three Prairie provinces.

A five-inch fall of wet snow in southern Alberta and Saskatchewan clogged equipment and hampered clearing operations, but officials reported highways "passable" by late afternoon.

Winds were as high as 70 miles an hour in some areas, with temperatures ranging from 10 below zero to 25 above.

B.C. Couple Triumphs in Tax Appeal

Fate Holds Surprise in Store

OTTAWA (CP) — J. O. Welton, a member of the tax appeal board, let his heart rule, rather than some musty old law books, when he heard the case of Don and Lillian Gray.

Don was 16 when he started to work as a clerk in a five-and-ten chain store, back in 1947. He married Lillian in Cranbrook, B.C., in 1952. He was then a store manager and he built a house with his own hands for his bride and himself.

Three years later, he was transferred to Biggar, Sask., and again built a house for Lillian and himself. By the time he was 30, he and Lillian had three children and had moved several times. Each time he built a new house himself, selling the old one and re-investing the proceeds.

Then, in 1961, Don and Lillian decided to set out on their own business venture. They borrowed funds jointly from a bank to open Gray's Five Cent to One Dollar Store in Vanderhoof, 60 miles northwest of Prince George.

That year their sales totalled $20,000 and they paid out $191 in wages—and paid off the bank loan.

The next year, their sales totalled nearly $42,000 and their wage bill—apart from their own labor—was $244. In 1963, their sales approached $60,000 and their wage bill was $655.

All this time, Don paid income taxes faithfully as the head of the family. But his business prospered to the point he needed an accountant's help. It was then decided to file separate returns for Don and Lillian, as partners in the store.

The 1963 revised income tax

Tories Will Avoid Madding Crowd

SPRING FOLLY: The B.C. Tories were unable to foist off Rev. Walter McLean on the Victoria group as a candidate in the last federal election. Despite the big push from above, Eric Charman swept the nomination.

Now the power brokers are pushing Mr. McLean as the provincial party leader. The churchman has come up with some pretty strong specifications.

The churchman wants $40,000 in salary and expenses and has told the party he will only go for the nomination if they can deliver the job on a plate. Seems like strong stuff from an also-ran.

The meeting is expected to be held in Kamloops, far away from the noisy opposition. In the present state of the Tory party, the whole affair is attracting about as much attention as a mortician's convention in Las Vegas. Support for the present B.C. Tory organization must border on necrophilia.

INQUIRY NEEDED: What right have military policemen to bother private citizens?

On Saturday afternoon, Carryl Reid took a party of friends for a drive around Royal Roads. She was waved into the grounds by a uniformed commissioner. After a brief tour, she drove out and went home.

On Tuesday a plainclothesman who identified himself as a military policeman called at her home and asked her mother if he could interview Miss Reid. He was not accompanied by a civilian policeman, and no reason was given for the call. It would be interesting to know if this is standard procedure and just what rights these servicemen have in relation to civilians.

Perhaps the thing to do if it happens again would be to call a policeman. I mean a real one.

NUMBER PLEASE: Standing at a bus stop, Jack Sam got into conversation with an elderly Englishman. He mentioned during the chat that he had a copy of the Vancouver Sun for Dec. 2, 1926.

The Englishman mentioned he would like to see the sports pages and Mr. Sam said he would be happy to forward the paper. The sad thing is that Mr. Sam has lost the phone number. If the sports fan in question would call 652-2082, he can get the paper.

NAME GAME: A woman convicted of shoplifting recently is NOT Mrs. Hene Day of 3341 Maryland in Sidney. Mrs. Day's children have been getting into battles at school defending the good name of their mum. It's not the same woman, kids, so forget it.

HOW SWEET IT IS: Our man in television, Bruce Lowther, reports that Jackie Gleason will open a national chain of snack bars and restaurants. The word is the chain will definitely be identified with the Gleason image. This could mean that, despite the diet fads going around, this will be the first high-calorie diner on the continent.

STEPPING DOWN: The Northwest's premier impresario, Zoltie Volchok of Seattle, is calling it quits. Over the years he has brought some of the greatest names in show business to Canada.

One of the men who will take over the business is Gerry Lona, who has worked as a publicity and public relations man for Channel 5.

Your Good Health

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My daughter has the flattest feet I ever saw. They hurt her almost constantly. Is there anything that can be done to give her relief? —E. H. M.

I wish you'd mentioned your daughter's age and something more about the condition of her feet, the nature of the flatness.

There's a difference between a merely flat foot and a painful flat foot. Some people with very flat feet get around comfortably and quite spryly, and there is little if any point in trying to do anything about their feet. They are serviceable.

A painful flat foot is another story. Something usually can and should be done about it.

The painful feet should be examined by a specialist in foot problems, an orthopedist or a podiatrist, after which you will at last be able to learn what will help and what can't.

Conservative treatment, correctly chosen, often is effective. Correction of faulty walking habits frequently helps. If weight is excessive, losing weight is going to help.

Use of a Thomas heel on shoes can correct the balance and make the feet more comfortable. A metatarsal bar on the shoe may be recommended. But note that I did not suggest the commonly-used arch support. While it may help, it may not do anything to correct the basic trouble, and will leave the

But before you try any of my foregoing suggestions, get professional advice as to what can be done to help.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 12½ years old, 5 feet 2½ inches and weigh about 135 pounds. I am desperate to lose weight but have weak will power. My mother won't let me go to a doctor because she doesn't think I'm fat. How do you suggest I lose weight without going to the doctor? —T.D.

By cutting out eating between meals, by eating only half a dessert or none at all, by avoiding fats and fried foods and gravies and cream sauces, by getting a lot more exercise than you do. Might as well start developing will power now. You'll need it for the next 60 or 70 years. I don't have to tell you, do I, to avoid all candy and go easy on all starches?

R. G. L. Fairweather (PC—Fundy-Royal), a member of the committee's steering sub-committee, said he believed the committee "took the right view" in deciding at a closed meeting Tuesday night to make its report after returning from Europe.

Anderson, 31-year-old freshman MP who spent four of the last six years in Hong Kong and Vietnam as a Canadian foreign service officer, said the committee will be "rightly to blame" if its report fails to influence government policy.

The committee would be "lax" if it did not ensure that its report was tabled sufficiently early for the government to act on its recommendations.

It was "mad" to think that a proper report could be drafted and approved by the committee after only four days back in Canada.

Anderson apparently received little support for his views at Tuesday's closed meeting. He said he "lost fairly dramatically" when the matter came to a vote.

comrades-in-arms during Israel's war of independence. For some months now they have been bitter rivals for the top job.

Informed political sources favored Mrs. Meir, 70, as a compromise. But her health, on her own admission, has been poor.

Mrs. Meir, although holding a strong respect for Dayan, dislikes him and would support Allon. The powerful Labor party would also fight to keep out Dayan. But the swashbuckling, patch-eyed war hero can claim powerful popular support.

DAYAN DRIVE

Both Allon and Dayan know that the chances of each ever becoming premier in the November elections would be shattered if the other became transitional premier.

A Dayan-for-premier campaign has been under way for some weeks, aiming to collect 250,000 signatures throughout the country to back him. To date it has amassed about 40,000 names. But the movement was not geared for full action when Eshkol died.

Israel's foreign policies and its relations with the Arabs are unlikely to undergo any traumatic changes whoever takes power. Sources said Allon, Dayan and Mrs. Meir have been in general agreement on at least this aspect of the country's affairs.

PALESTINE-BORN

Although they were widely tabbed as hawks they have all said Israel must give up some occupied territory for the sake of peace while they differed on what parts.

Arab capitals considered Eshkol a dove compared with Dayan. Allon, who became the first Palestine-born leader in the country's 20-year history, said in a radio address that Eshkol "dreamed the dream of the Jewish rebirth."

Eshkol's sudden death brought expressions of grief from leaders around the world. In Bonn, American President Nixon described Eshkol as "a passing."

Nixon's Hope:

Arms Control Talks May Touch Politics

BONN (AP) — American President Nixon said Wednesday he hopes future arms control talks between the United States and the Soviet Union will also cover political differences.

West Germany's leaders requested that German reunification be part of any such agenda, but White House press secretary Ronald Ziegler said the president indicated no preconditions would be raised.

In an unprecedented appearance before the Bundestag, West Germany's parliament, Nixon said the power of the Atlantic alliance must be preserved.

"As we enter what I have described as a period of negotiations with those who have been our opponents," he said, "we recognize that for those negotiations to succeed it is essential that we maintain the strength that made negotiations possible."

Nixon was the first foreign chief of state ever to address the Bundestag, Nixon spoke in English.

American officials said they expect the negotiations with the Russians to start within about six months.

Nixon flew from foggy London to foggy Bonn with a pledge of continuing U.S. dedication to the goal of a united Germany. He told Chancellor Kiesinger that the U.S. will support whatever course West Germany chooses to pursue in the current Berlin dispute with the Communist East.

He stopped well short, however, of any commitment to his German hosts to put reunification and the future of divided Berlin on the table at U.S. talks with the Russians.

Kiesinger said on television he feels reassured after the day's talks with Nixon. He said Nixon "stands by our side" and had shown "deep concern" about any new tensions threatening West Berlin.

CONSULTATION

Nixon has stressed from the beginning of his European tour Sunday that U.S.-Soviet negotiations will be preceded and accompanied by consultation with the allies of the United States.

It was part of this process which led to the West German request, at the second of two conferences with the president. The sessions totalled about three hours.

Guenter Diehl, Kiesinger's spokesman, said the chancellor told the president new initiatives are needed in the quest for reunification of West and East Germany.

NO PACKAGE DEAL

Diehl quoted Nixon as saying that some persons believe the president is seeking to negotiate a sort of package settlement with the Soviet Union on a variety of matters, but that this is not the case.

Nixon was quoted as saying there is no direct link between issues dividing the giants of the Western and Communist worlds — but that negotiations on such topics as disarmament would have greater value if coupled with consideration of political differences.

Foreign Minister Willy Brandt suggested that reunification and the future of Berlin be made part of such talks.

BERLIN TODAY

Nixon flies to West Berlin today.

Nixon and Kiesinger also discussed—but did not settle—the issue of West German misgivings about the nuclear non-proliferation treaty, now before the U.S. Senate for ratification.

Kiesinger, whose government has expressed concern about the implications of the treaty for West German security and for peaceful uses of nuclear energy, suggested that high-level discussions might clarify the matter.

Diehl said both Nixon and Kiesinger sought to minimize the impact on Western European unity of the reported plan of President de Gaulle of France for a drastic overhaul of the major institutions of alliance—the European Common Market and Nato.

Union Meets Again Without France

LONDON (UPI) — Britain and France's five Common Market partners held a third Western European Union council meeting without France Wednesday in defiance of President de Gaulle's continuing boycott of the organization.

The WEU member countries are Britain and the six European Common Market states, France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, Netherlands and Luxembourg.

ALL FIVE

The fact that all five of France's Common Market partners — known in Britain as the "friendly five" — agreed to participate was regarded as a sign of de Gaulle's weakening hold over his European partners.

British sources described the meeting as "very useful" and said it included a "substantial political discussion."

All permanent delegates attended except France. The French have boycotted the WEU since Feb. 14 to protest the fact it discussed issues outside WEU's own sphere, which is arms control in Western Europe.

The French regarded the use of WEU for broader discussions as a British manoeuvre to get around de Gaulle's six-year-old veto on Britain's Common Market membership bid.

The council agreed to meet again March 12. It was assumed the French, who have branded meetings held without them as "illegal," would continue to boycott the organization.

Diplomatic sources said two main questions were discussed. First of these was the question of Article VIII of the Brussels Treaty which set up WEU in 1954. It was on the basis of this article that the French have boycotted the organization. They claimed the article provided all WEU decisions must be unanimous.

Britain has disputed this. The sources said West Germany brought up this question Wednesday. They said a "preliminary discussion" on this was held and it will be continued at the next meeting.

The council also discussed Greece, the sources said. They said the discussion centred particularly around a planned visit to Greece soon of the council of Europe's human rights commission.

The discussion on Greece will be continued March 12, the sources said.

BBC Man on Nixon

Stinging Words Rouse British

LONDON (AP) — British officials are seething over a BBC television commentator's cracks about President Nixon and Prime Minister Wilson during their meetings in London.

The BBC broadcaster, David Dimbleby, referred Monday to Nixon's "face for all seasons." Later he spoke of Wilson "hogging the limelight" during the presidential visit to Britain. The latter remark was said to have especially stung the prime minister.

The 29-year-old commentator is the son of the late Richard Dimbleby, known for his discreet and unflappable commentaries on the BBC.

Dimbleby kept up the acid attack Tuesday, commenting: "All of us, of course, will be kept fully in the dark about the discussions. Both Mr. Wilson and the president have expensively-hired press secretaries whose job it is to disguise the truth."

Nixon's aides were said to consider Dimbleby's comments strange.

The BBC said it regretted that commentaries on President Nixon's visit "included remarks which were unfortunate and inappropriate." It said it was making an inquiry "into all the circumstances."

Berlin Deadlock

Election, Passes Heighten Crisis

BERLIN (UPI) — East-West negotiations aimed at avoiding a new Soviet squeeze on Berlin collapsed in deadlock Wednesday, one day before President Nixon's visit. The Communists set stiff conditions for renewing talks on the crisis.

By both western and Communist accounts, East German state secretary Michael Kohl demanded as a "precondition" for further talks that West Germany submit a binding promise not to hold its presidential election in West Berlin. It is scheduled for March 5.

West Berlin chancellor chief Horst Grabert, in turn, refused to budge from West Germany's demand that the Communists agree to open the Berlin Wall on a "long-term" basis before the elections are moved.

He rejected East Germany's offer to open the wall only for Easter.

Kohl and Grabert walked out of the East Berlin talks after an hour and 45 minutes without setting a date for a new meeting. Kohl's precondition apparently barred that.

The deadlock increased the possibility the Soviets and East Germans would find ways to interfere with overland and perhaps air traffic between West Germany and the divided city.

The Soviet-led Warsaw Pact has scheduled military manoeuvres in East Germany, all around Berlin, in early March.

Integrity at Stake

PENDING the report of the commission appointed by the British Columbia government to look into the affairs of the Commonwealth Trust group of companies, it is pointless to attempt to apportion the blame for what is, at best, an atrocious affair.

The Opposition is making the most of its opportunity politically to make the government the scapegoat and to infer that because Einar Gunderson, former minister of finance, is a member of the firm auditing the Commonwealth accounts, because Health Minister Ralph Lofmark was an adviser to Commonwealth before he became an MLA, and the late J. V. Fisher, former financial consultant to the government, was at one time a Commonwealth director, the government was itself in some way involved.

The commission should be able to clear up these points.

The two questions, however, that can be asked at present are these: was the B.C. government kept adequately informed by its own financial departments as to what was going on in Commonwealth; and if so did the government act as quickly as it should have done when such information became available to it?

In the investment industry doubts and suspicions about Commonwealth have been current for over two years. But such is the complexity of the group that it was impossible for the outsider to piece the jigsaw together.

In any case when the government finally decided to move in last June by the appointment of Mr. Peter Stanley as a government watchdog, it was too late. The group, or at least members of the group, were already hopelessly insolvent.

That this unhappy state of affairs should have happened is a condemnation of the Canadian system of security administration.

Trusts, like other companies, may be incorporated or chartered either at the federal or provincial level. Commonwealth Trust is a British Columbia company coming under the B.C. Trust Companies regulations.

Alberta and some other provinces also have provincially registered trust companies, but most of the larger trusts are under Ottawa jurisdiction.

These national companies have been urging for some time that the practice of permitting trust companies to operate on the provincial level is unwise and liable to cause confusion or worse.

The Commonwealth affair suggests that they were correct. The statements made in the legislature indicate that there has been insufficient liaison between federal and provincial authorities, each one apparently relying on the other to see that obligations were being met.

The fact that the federal insurance fund which covers deposits made into trust companies has had to pay up already over $2,000,000 is a good indication of the serious nature of the Commonwealth finances.

Neither Ottawa nor Victoria could permit the stigma of a failure by Commonwealth Trust to pay off those who deposited their savings with it, even if the rescue work has to be undertaken with taxpayers' money.

Coming on the heels of the sordid Atlantic Acceptance Corporation failure, the Commonwealth Trust affair is ample evidence that Canada's securities regulations are not good enough.

Standardization of regulations throughout the country under a federal agency, even if it eliminates some power from the provinces, is clearly desirable, and it is to be hoped that in the efforts to bring this about, political differences will not be allowed to create a stalemate.

At stake is Canada's integrity as a nation with which the world can safely do business.

Difficult Choice

IN THE FACE OF FRENCH indignation at the British disclosure of the substance of diplomatic conversations between them, and the critical reaction of some members of the Conservative Opposition in London, the foreign secretary, Mr. Michael Stewart, has defended the action.

The proposals made by President Charles de Gaulle to the British ambassador, Mr. Christopher Soames, affected the vital interests of other European nations, Britain's allies, he said.

On that basis, says Mr. Stewart, "talks of this kind should not and could not remain a secret between Britain and France."

What President de Gaulle had suggested was a reorganization of the European economic community, guided by a four-nation "inner council" comprising France, Britain, Germany and Italy, to make it completely independent of the United States, and with the ultimate aim of dissolving the North Atlantic Treaty alliance.

Certainly such far-reaching proposals must eventually have been placed before the other nations concerned; and had Great Britain agreed to them no doubt President de Gaulle would have disclosed them at a time of his choosing.

But the British government did not agree. It was in the peculiar position of one in whom is confided a plan to damage the interests of friends. If it remained silent it became a party to the plot. And when the allies learned, as they must, what France was proposing behind their backs, so to speak, and that Britain had been in a position to warn them, their confidence in their NATO partner would have been shaken.

As a defender of NATO, which President de Gaulle would like to see dissolved, Britain had to accept the risk entailed in what would be called a breach of diplomatic confidence for the sake of the alliance.

Perhaps the method of disclosure was ill-advised. Perhaps Britain should have informed her allies' ambassadors, counting on their discretion to preserve the secrecy normal in diplomatic exchanges. Or perhaps France should have been notified of the British intention.

But it is as well that the matter has become public, for there can be no ambiguity about the French position any longer. To maintain a semblance of leadership in Europe, President de Gaulle is prepared to forget his power of veto and allow Britain into the sort of economic community he would like, providing the Anglo-American association is severed and NATO is abandoned.

That sort of bargain Britain could not buy.

Alarm Bells Ring With Integration As Parliament's Duplication Dented

DESPAIR not.

After 102 years of segregation, the Senate and Commons have taken a teeny-weeny step towards integration.

It could be the beginning of the end of more than a century of separation, a watershed, a turning point. Tiny, but at the same time tremendous.

What's happened? The Commons and Senate—in the same building on Parliament Hill, the hugely rambling Centre Block—have unified their fire alarms.

But not without a tearing of senatorial hair. Until just the other day they each had their own klaxon fire horn.

The Commons horn was wired to blast off in one long sustained howl, like the continuous ringing of its seasonal bells.

The Senate horn was adjusted to howl at a different pitch and rhythm, intermittently in a slow and measured pulse.

Idea was to avoid confusion in case of fire. You see, the Senate all these years had a slow-beat bell, so ditto the horn.

Same with the Commons—continuous bell so likewise the horn.

But no more. Now on the same electrical circuit, the two alarms are wired to ring as one.

The Senate didn't like it, of course. The senators, like Quebec, insisted they were "different."

But the public works department, the fire marshal and the Ottawa fire department said two different horns on two different pitches and two different pulses wouldn't make sense unless the Senate was walled off from the Commons by a sound-proof concrete wall.

So the Senate, reluctantly, accepted this humiliation of integration.

Almost all other parliamentary services still come in pairs, one for the Senate, another for the Commons. There are: Two barbershops. Two sets of guards. Two staffs of male sweepers and cleaners. Two groups of charwomen. Two post offices side by side. Two reading rooms. Two carpenter shops. Two locksmiths. Two, in duplicate, of just about everything.

Even, would you believe two different brands and styles of brooms, mops, kits and tools.

How "separate" can separation get?

Well, a Senate messenger will run a message to the "other side" of the Centre Block, but only as far as the nearest Commons messenger for final relay to its destination.

The Commons char staff will run their mops and brooms up to an imaginary line in a corridor—the "border"—and no further. The Senate charmen will do the same, going up to but never over the demarcation line.

But since the Commons and Senate corridors aren't always swabbed the same day, the line isn't all that imaginary.

For the floors are of white stone, the line between the clean and the unclean runs as sharp and clear as white on black.

How far, really, can this ludicrous duplication go? As far, and maybe further than the paying of separate bills, one by the Commons, the other by the Senate, for use of the same mail truck.

Each post office, Senate and Commons, dispatches its outgoing mail in separate bags of course, in the same truck under separate contract to the capital's postal terminal. There, a separate pickup, in separate bags naturally, is made of incoming mail.

Now here's a little secret—and don't ever let the Senate hear about it—the Commons has a couple of sort of "private" services all to itself.

Like a tailor and valet. And an upholsterer. But don't breathe a word to your Senate friends or they'll insist they have one too.

However, be not dismayed. The fire alarms have been integrated, and in this world of super-segregation, that's progress.

Just one more thing... the cost of Parliament continues climbing.

Up this year by $485,400 from $3,280,100 to $3,765,500 for the Senate.

Up $780,550 from $15,306,650 to $16,087,200 for the Commons. Together they climbed $1,319,450 in the year from $19,309,650 to $20,626,100.

How much can be charged to duplication of services for politicians who refuse to integrate while running a duplication down the up-choked throat of the defenceless defence department?

Time Most Precious of Commodities In Leaders' Quest for Understanding

THE commodity in short supply for the Nixon administration is time. The clock ticks relentlessly on and the press of matters that cannot be long postponed grows more urgent daily.

Here at home it is the cities. Basic services threaten to break down completely. Abroad it is the glimmering, and yet perhaps dwindling, chance to get agreement with the Soviet Union on a pause in the nuclear arms race.

These are matters of life and death that will not wait for an indefinite future. This is true, above all, in light of the next upward spiral looming just ahead in the race for nuclear superiority; for security through armaments that in the missile age is a fatal illusion.

The president's trip to Europe is a necessary undertaking. He will have demonstrated his concern for the Western alliance and his desire to help straighten out the disarray and the lack of harmony in that alliance.

In such a quick visit — five capitals in seven days — he can hardly do more than prove his good will and establish friendships with the leaders of the alliance.

If the trip is to be really useful it must be seen as a prelude to negotiation with the Soviets. President Nixon will assure the men he meets that he does not mean to go over their heads in dealing with Moscow. He will convince them that negotiating a pause in the arms race does not mean the two giants are conspiring to divide the world into spheres of domination.

In some respects Nixon has made a good start. He named Gerard C. Smith to be director of the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency. Smith is exceptionally qualified by experience and background and by a dedicated belief that progress can be made toward scaling back the mountain of annihilation stored in each country. President John F. Kennedy credited Smith with initiating and bringing to a successful conclusion the hot line with Moscow.

Smith succeeds William C. Foster who with his deputy, Adrian Fisher, did more than has ever been publicly acknowledged to unify the Johnson administration behind an accepted negotiating position. It took remarkable patience and persistence to get all the elements of the military together with the state department, the Atomic Energy Commission and everyone else with a finger in the pie.

The question now is whether Smith must repeat the performance with the new administration. Does Secretary of Defence Melvin Laird's hard line on nuclear superiority represent the administration or is it merely the Pentagon view of a bargaining position? Laird has talked about a wait of anywhere from six to nine months before negotiation with the Russians can begin. That would be spending the precious wasting asset of time in a way that could well close out any opening in the foreseeable future.

On the Soviet side, too, the swift passage of time puts in doubt the hope of a few months ago. Rumblings from within the mysterious fastness of the Kremlin indicate an upheaval that could spell the doom of the moderates and a new Ice Age, with the door to the West slammed shut.

The disarray in the Communist world is far greater than in the West. The invasion of Czechoslovakia aroused deep fears and antagonisms in Eastern Europe and in the Communist parties in Western Europe. Moscow's pronouncement of limited sovereignty among Communist states is bitterly resented, with Romania and Yugoslavia speaking out publicly to refute the doctrine of second-rate citizenship.

To put at least a better face on this disarray the Soviets have finally got agreement for a meeting in May, the first since 1961, of the Communist parties from all over the world, with the defection, conspicuously Red China, expected. Even if the United States were to come forward, prepared to say ready and willing for the missile talks next month, could Moscow respond? Or would the meeting of 70 or more party bosses have to vote approval for the talks?

No one on the outside can answer these questions. Premier Alexei Kosygin has both publicly and privately, notably in his talk last November with the former secretary of defence, Robert S. McNamara, conveyed his own great sense of urgency. He told McNamara his government was ready to start at once.

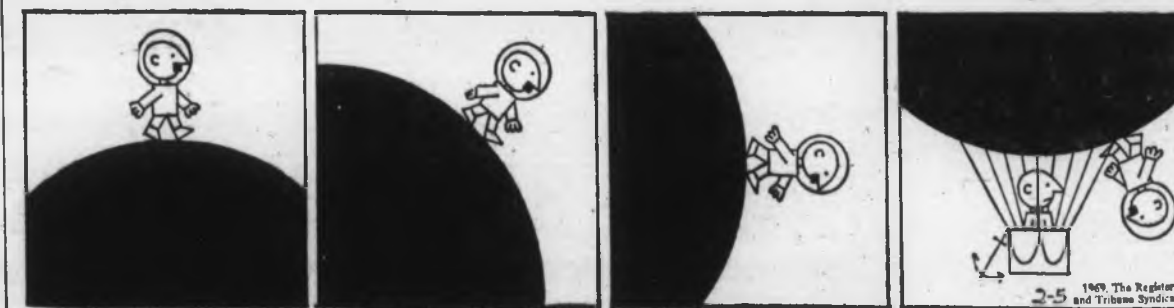

That was as the transition from one administration to another was about to take place. Four months have passed. The fear haunting those who believe this may be a last chance is of another accident. It might be another U-2 spy plane, and in a sense the Czech invasion was an accident crying across the planning of those in both Washington and Moscow seeking a way to the conference table.

Let's imagine that the headlines trumpet a new Soviet weapon. Whether fact or Pentagon fantasy, it could mean a full stop. Since the administration seems to have no plan to advance the Vietnam peace talks, a new escalation would serve those set against any disarmament. These are the accidents increasingly likely as time runs out.

Budget Won't Reach Payments for Home

WE were quite astonished at the statement made by the Hon. Grace McCarthy as to how it was possible for a family earning $4,400 to purchase a home, the payments amounting to $101 per month. Feeling it was our duty to correct the honorable lady, whom we feel is drawing her figure out of thin air, we are taking the time and effort to submit the following facts, which clearly show how this is impossible.

We have been married four years, have two children whose ages are three and one year. We are living with my wife's mother, who lives on a widow's pension. She takes care of the mortgage payments and pays us her board which we supply at cost. We foot all the rest of the bills which are as follows:

Food	$140.00
Milk	18.90
Hydro Bill	10.00
Phone	5.00
Water and sewer	7.50
Car payments	68.00
Car insurance premium	9.00
Car licence	2.08
Gas	17.00
Property insurance	4.00
Life insurance	10.00
Newspapers	4.50
Cigarettes	22.50
Furniture payments	20.00
Holiday (Two weeks on Gabriola Island, big deal)	9.00
Baby sitters	6.00
	$353.48

This pretty well takes care of the monthly pay cheque of $374.17 and it will be noted that there isn't much elaborate spending, as a matter of fact we have to cut corners. Yet there is no provision for such important items as the following:

Clothing, which is a big item; dental care, entertaining, liquor, Christmas preparations, presents, etc., celebration for anniversaries and other special occasions, up-keep on family car and household appliances. The above itemized cost of operating a home, etc., clearly shows that we must be earning at least $7,000 a year to pay $101 per month on a home as proposed by Mrs. McCarthy and still enjoy a standard of living demanded and enjoyed by our members of Parliament and heads of big businesses.

This issue sure brings to light just how many thousands of families right here in B.C. are enduring a very low standard of living.

We suggest to the honorable member instead of making wild statements she confer with her colleagues in the House on Bill 33 which was designed to prevent the wage earners of B.C. to use the only weapon at their command to increase their wages in order to buy the home that Mrs. McCarthy advocates and raise their standard of living in general and put a little money away for a rainy day.

OUR READERS' VIEWS

You be considered for publication in whole or in part, letters must be on subjects of general interest, and if signed with pen-name, must be accompanied by writer's name and address. Preference will be given to those that are brief.

Where Credit Is Due

In the February 15 issue of The Daily Colonist J. L. Breerton mistakenly gave M. J. J. Woodworth first asked for it in the Old Age Pension Act on W. L. Mackenzie King as the price of the support of his CCF party. As a matter of fact the two Labor MPs, J. S. Woodworth and A. Heaps, held the balance of power in that Parliament and demanded a written agreement to pass old age pensions and unemployment insurance. That agreement signed by Mackenzie King hangs today in Woodworth House.

The fact that the senators (who were enjoying a very comfortable salary in their old age) defeated the pension bill the first time around, so enraged people that King also promised senate reform. He went to the country on a constitutional issue, asking for a stable government and on receiving it promptly forgot about unemployment insurance. Had it been put into effect when Woodworth first asked for it in 1921 a comfortable sum could have been built up to cushion the hard knocks of the dirty thirties. The senate reform consisted of replacing dead Conservative senators with Liberals.

The record of Ross Thatcher's government is the main reason why Saskatchewan people did not succumb to Trudeaumania. This letter would be considered too lengthy for publication if I listed every tax increase and every decreased service. I could almost say deceased services. It would take much less space to list those that haven't been jacked up, but it would rack my brain to find them.

Question of Qualification

Many opinions have been expressed concerning the unrest which is prevalent in our universities.

I will comment on two points put forward by the students. First, they want to actively participate in the governing of the university; and second, have a voice in the firing and hiring of professors.

I understand the student body is organized, with an elected executive, to administer all their affairs. It seems to me the minority who cause the troubles could be disciplined by the majority in this organization. This majority does not want any part of these disruptions which are taking place. In other words, clean up their own house before suggesting to anyone they are capable of sharing the management of the institution. To date the students have demonstrated a gross deficiency in managing their own affairs, especially with respect to these sit-ins, walk-ins, break-ins, break-outs and break-ups.

As to the second point; just exactly what are their qualifications for accepting or ejecting any professor?

Urban Renewal Burden

It is a shame to tear down livable dwellings which would be priceless in many parts of the world. Taxpayers should be spared this burden. If new housing developments are desirable, why not place them on unused land near the city? Preferably land unsuitable for agriculture. In this way, a great many more homes would be provided at less cost, and waste eliminated. We feel that a great deal of money is poorly spent under the title of urban renewal.

In Defence of the CBC

I should like to commend Bill Thomas on his very fine article "No goat like CBC." It is somewhat refreshing to read an article which comes to the defence of the CBC and gives many pertinent facts regarding the network and its most important role in Canadian society and my feeling is that my contribution of two cents per day to support the network is the best spent money in my budget.

I would only like to add one item which Mr. Thomas omitted but which was brought up by Miss Judy LaMarsh in her recent visit to Victoria, to the effect that so called private enterprise would be unwilling to take radio and TV to the remote parts of Canada as there would be no profit in such an undertaking. The CBC fills this role very well and in spite of reported waste and inefficiency which should, of course, be corrected I feel that the CBC is by far the most interesting and educational network in the North American continent.

Search for Valor

For over seven years I have been compiling a VCs' Who's Who to be entitled "Aristocracy of the Brave" with short biographies of the 1,346 men who have been decorated — from the Crimes in 1854 to Vietnam in 1966. The majority of VCs are unknown or forgotten. Who now remembers Canada's first VC (Col. Dunn), the only officer decorated for valor during the charge of the Light Brigade. His grave is in Abyssinia. Second for Canada — Surgeon Reade of Indian Mutiny fame; irritated by snipers whilst bandaging wounded in a street of Delhi, he seized a sword and led the walking wounded in a charge which cleared the area of the enemy.

Later, this adventurous Canadian outran everybody to be first up the glaciery and through the breach in the walls of the great Delhi Magazine. Another surgeon — Douglas — was Canada's third VC; he saved British soldiers from being captured by cannibals on Andaman Island.

Canada has her own section in my book — including details of Canadian Expeditionary Forces this century with their casualties.

Some Canadian VC records are not yet complete. Will families and friends of VCs, or anyone with helpful information, please write to me?

New Spirit Explains Row with de Gaulle

Britain Swings to Europe

By JOSEPH KRAFT
From London

Swinging Britain has suddenly become a term relevant to foreign policy. There has been an access of confidence here in London. And that explains the current row with General de Gaulle, which, in turn, has a major bearing on President Nixon's European trip.

What has happened is that the British have finally chucked the pretentious shadow of a "special relationship" with the United States. They are going for the solid substance of a European partnership.

And in the process of switching gears, they have found, perhaps for the first time since the war, a role in the world that can be played with force and assurance.

The chief mark of the change lies in the handling of the famous conversation which took place in Paris Feb. 4 between de Gaulle and the British ambassador, Christopher Soames.

The general's vision of a Europe minus the common market and the American military presence was not new. He had previously imparted it to many other foreign visitors — not excepting former prime minister Harold Macmillan.

What was new was the vigorous response of the government of Prime Minister Harold Wilson. Not being hung up about a choice between Europe and the "special relationship," it did not, in the Macmillan fashion, keep the general's views to itself as a guilty secret.

It passed them on, in tones of outrage, to France's partners in the common market. It acted, in other words, as the super-good European.

That kind of action has been the hallmark of British diplomacy for the past two months. The recent effort to discuss Near East policy with the West European Union fits the same pattern.

So does the emphasis of Defence Minister Denis Healey on a "European group" within NATO, not to mention the persistent rumor that Healey may become the next secretary-general of NATO.

Even Wilson himself seems to have caught the European spirit. "I used to be a European out of political calculation," he told a recent foreign visitor. "Now I'm a convert."

In fact, the conversion came only after all other alternatives had been exhausted.

Two hammer blows — devaluation of the pound and the decision to pull back all forces East of Suez — showed that Britain was not a great power entitled to a "special relationship" with the United States.

Britain had to embark upon an exceedingly painful economic reform aimed at suppressing internal demand and stimulating production for export.

The economic reform program is now beginning to turn the corner. During the past quarter, balance of payments figures have shown a surplus. And even the Sunday Telegraph, a paper hostile to the Wilson government, conceded over the weekend that "output is rising steadily, unemployment is falling, export orders are good, and industry is stepping up investment."

Still, a long, dreary, sloggish effort lies ahead. To sustain that effort Britain needs an incentive beyond mere getting and spending — a mystique, a role to play in the world. For better or worse, the Wilson government has chosen the European role.

Precisely because so much is tied up with the European role, it is not enough simply to file an application to the common market.

Britain now feels obliged to challenge the French veto to common market entry at all times and in all ways. Britain also is obliged to build up the Germans in all ways.

For the basic British theory is that Paris will drop the veto only when it becomes plain that West Germany is too strong to be contained by France unless France is joined by Britain. And that means getting the West Germans to act like real Germans.

For the United States, no doubt, Britain's sudden show of diplomatic energy is an embarrassment — particularly at the time of Nixon's European visit.

The fair prospect that Nixon would find a benign, harmonious Europe, smilingly ready to accord him proxies for dealing with Russia, has been shattered. And the United States now has to avoid taking sides in an obvious way as between Britain and France.

Still, the British discovery of a European vocation is in line with the long-term American interest in a cohesive Western Europe sharing the burdens of world leadership.

And in their new role, the British deserve from the United States, and particularly from Nixon, every encouragement that can be fairly given.

Old Guard Keeps Reins in Israel

By LOUIS FLEMING
LAT News Analyst

The death of Prime Minister Levi Eshkol will not alter the course of Israeli politics but his fence-mending skills will be missed.

The old guard of the Mapai Party, which is the major portion of the new majority Labor Party, continues to dominate the government. The year-old unity of the Labor Party almost certainly will survive, but the party's majority, achieved for the first time last month, may be lost in the maneuvering which now will take place.

Shifts within the cabinet are not likely to help Defence Minister Moshe Dayan move any closer to the premiership, despite the fact he remains the single most popular political figure in the nation.

In fact, it now appears likely there will be a caretaker situation in the government until elections are held. The real struggle for leadership may not come until after the elections.

The national elections now are scheduled for next autumn. Date of the election may be advanced, however, as part of a political arrangement to maintain the present Labor Party majority.

There are two choices for the cabinet when it confers Sunday:

● To permit Deputy Prime Minister Yigal Allon to continue as interim prime minister with a caretaker government until the national elections are held.

● To create a new government, probably under the premiership of Golda Meir, former foreign minister, to serve until the next election at the end of this year.

The advantage of an interim government under Allon is that it legally would bind all of the parties now constituting the united Labor Party to the party until the election, preventing any defections.

The disadvantage of a new government under Mrs. Meir is that it could reopen all of the old controversies regarding the sharing of power by the various Labor Party factions, including the Rafi group of Gen. Dayan.

In any event, there is no likelihood the changes will weaken or affect Israel's defence organization or alter its firm stand in favor of direct peace negotiations with the Arabs.

Eshkol has been prime minister, but the nation has been ruled by the cabinet as a whole, and this rule will continue. The real power in the Israeli government has been, and almost certainly will continue to be, Pinhas Sapir, general secretary of the Labor Party and minister without portfolio.

There was little popular support for Eshkol. In a recent popularity poll only 17 per cent of the people favored him to continue as prime minister — half the number supporting Dayan.

At the time of the June, 1967, threat of war there was a national crisis of confidence in Eshkol, which forced the cabinet to appoint Dayan as minister of defence on the eve of the outbreak of the war.

But now it is the political foes of Dayan, Mrs. Meir and Sapir, who are leading the strategy for the reorganization of government.

Eshkol may be the last of the eastern Europeans to govern Israel. He was born near Kiev in the Ukraine 74 years ago, but came to Israel in 1914 and had been a cabinet minister almost from the birth of the nation. He became prime minister in 1963.

Should Allon become prime minister beyond the interim appointment, he would symbolize two changes: at the age of 50 he is young by the standards of Israeli political leadership, and as a native-born Israeli he is one of the sabras who now constitute about 45 per cent of the population.

"This lack of authority is not entirely a 20th century phenomenon. Plato describes in the Republic how democracy can turn into anarchy and thence into dictatorship. Two symptoms he regarded as particularly significant — the magistrates losing their authority over the people and the elders losing their authority over the young..."

Are the Ladies to Blame For Revolting Students?

By BRUCE WEST

Some years ago Professor Northcote Parkinson wrote a tongue-in-cheek but brilliantly penetrating book in which he outlined his theory of how work always expands to fill the time in which to do it and the ability of an enlarged staff to handle it.

This theory subsequently became renowned as "Parkinson's Law."

Prof. Parkinson, who has taught in universities all over the world, was recently interviewed for Executive Magazine by writer George MacKinnon.

Inasmuch as everyone seems to have something to say these days about student disorders, the following remarks of Prof. Parkinson on the subject might be of some interest.

Asked "why this disdain for the formerly privileged position of university students?" Prof. Parkinson replied:

"In my opinion, the sense of authority in the modern Western world began to weaken around the turn of the century when women revolted against the supremacy of men, and claimed equality in voting, in entrance to university and the professions, and generally struck the word 'obey' from the marriage ceremony."

"Up to then, the father had been considered the home 'last word in authority.' Unfortunately for the wife, when she ceased to obey the husband, she lost her authority over the children.

Parkinson

"In Victorian households, the mother used the authority of the father as a threat and also by ostensibly obeying the father, she was setting an example."

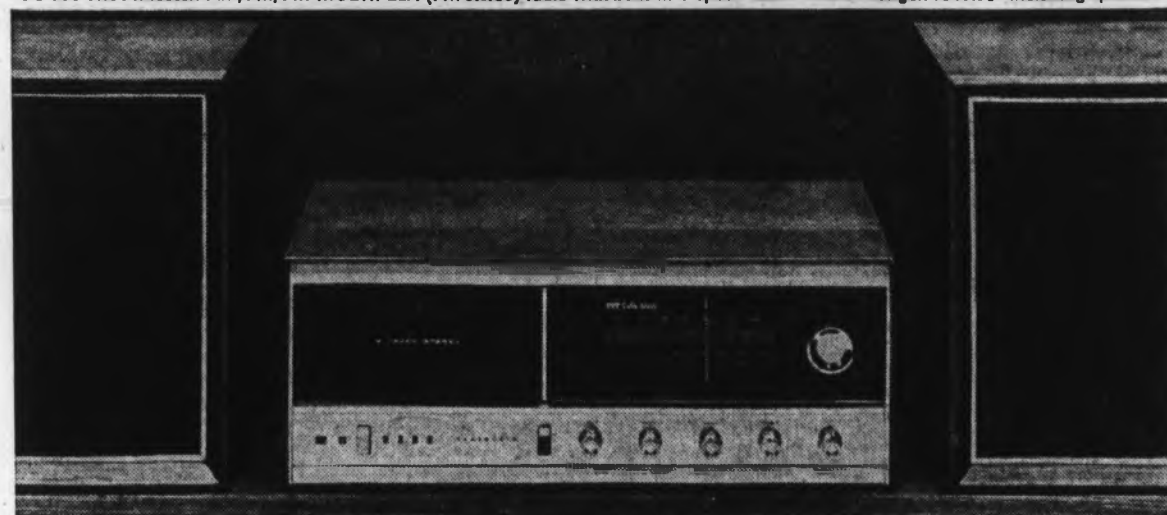

"In practice of course, the father's authority was not nearly so absolute, but it served as a team effort to instill the sense of authority in the children."

"You know, one's idea of authority is acquired before the age of five, and may be as early as the age of three... so today, we start off with children who have come from a nice relaxed, modern home, with no great sense of authority about human affairs."

We have 27 ways of filling your wall with Stereo sound.

The name of the game is modular stereo components. And Panasonic plays things your way with the largest choice of matching modular components in Canada — 27 in all. So where do you start? Easy. At your Panasonic dealer's. With a unit like Panasonic's model RE 767C. It's a superb AM/FM/FM MULTIPLEX (FM stereo) radio with two separate acoustically balanced speaker systems. It's a great way to get started because Panasonic lets you add a perfectly matched 8-track stereo tape deck (model 800AS) and/or a 4-speed stereo record changer (model RD 7673C) anytime the mood moves you. Or, you can give yourself a head start in your component system with Panasonic models like the SG 999 that includes a hide-away 4-speed stereo record changer under its hinged top or the RS 280S that features a built-in stereo cassette tape system. And let's not forget Panasonic's great line of reel-to-reel stereo tape recorders and radio-tape recorder combinations. The whole idea is simply this: You want a modular component system because of all the wonderful things you can add later. So Panasonic obliges — with 27 different ways of filling your wall with stereo sound. In fact, participating dealers will even sell you perfectly matched free-standing walnut shelving to house the Panasonic components of your choice. And that is really playing things your way!

Sales and other income rose to $584,490,606 from $540,584,464. J. V. Clynne, chairman and chief executive officer, said the company's two major pulp and paper expansion programs at Powell River and Pine Hills, Alberta, costing more than $300,000,000, had been completed and the new units are in production.

He said 1968 provided an unsatisfactory market in pulp and paper and this had been coupled with the customary starting-up costs at the two new facilities. However, the lumber market had been good as a result of strong demand in all areas.

REPORT PROMISED

Since last November, holders of shares in the Diversified Income Mutual Funds have been left in doubt as to how their investment stands, and they have been unable to buy or sell their securities in either the A or B issues.

Trading in the shares was ordered suspended by the B.C. Supreme Court, but now A. D. Peter Stanley, the receiver-manager of the Commonwealth Trust group of companies, of which Diversified is one, says that a report on the financial standing of the Diversified A and B funds is nearly complete and will be made public within a couple of weeks.

A spokesman for Mr. Stanley said the report would show the "extent to which the funds are intact."

While there was no further explanation, it is understood that apart from question as to the legal ownership of some of the assets, the Diversified Funds during their "frozen" state have been continuing to perform satisfactorily and that the managers have been making normal transactions with the permission of the receiver-manager.

LENGTH OF TIME

The A fund which consists of U.S. stocks is managed by Merrill Lynch of Vancouver, while the B fund of Canadian shares is managed by John Richardson, of Hager Investments Ltd. in Vancouver.

No indication has yet been given as to the length of time in which the embargo in trading in Diversified shares will continue.

However, indications are that whatever may happen to other companies in the Commonwealth group, the Diversified shares seem fairly well geared.

THE DOLLAR ADVANCE

Canada's fine performance in merchandizing trade during the latter part of 1968 was responsible for the strength in the Canadian dollar, according to the Bank of Montreal in its annual folder on foreign exchange rates.

Business Topics From Harry Young

After facing a serious decline in the first three months of 1968 owing to the monetary crisis and threat of devaluation of the Canadian dollar, the picture changed and the exchange rate rose from the year's low of 91.74 cents (U.S.) to a high of 93.24 cents in mid-July and the strength was maintained to the end of the year when the closing quotation was 93.21 cents (U.S.).

The Bank of Montreal says that the government's export target for 1968 was $12,000,000,000, but the actual figure was above $13,500,000,000.

In addition to the dollar strength, Canadian reserves of U.S. dollars and gold rose to $2,826,800,000, including an International Monetary Fund creditor balance of $21,200,000.

The low for the year had been $2,244,000,000 in mid-March.

DROP IN PROFITS

Net earnings of Great Lakes Paper in 1968 were down 26.6 per-cent, largely because of prolonged strikes against two of its Detroit newspaper customers. The strikes affected the company's newsprint output.

The statement said net profit was $3,089,258 (86 cents a share) against $4,209,825 ($1.17) a year earlier.

OIL COMPANY PROSPERS

An increase of 41 per cent in the net profits of Aquitaine Co. of Canada is reported for 1968.

The French-controlled company which is in the exploratory oil and gas business in Western Canada, notably in the Rainbow field, made $5,012,754 against $3,545,408 in 1967.

Sales and other operating revenues rose 45 per cent to $10,584,862 from $7,291,117 a year earlier.

Cash flow was up 50-per-cent at $6,250,478.

Like its sister exchanges in the east, the Vancouver Stock Exchange is being caught up in the paperwork tangle.

Because of recent high level of trading activity on the exchange, brokerage houses have been under considerable pressure to meet settlement and other deadlines.

John van Loven, VSE president, said the new trading hours would be from 7 a.m. to 1 p.m. instead of 2 p.m. as at present. The cut of one hour from the afternoon trading will come into effect Monday, March 3 and will continue for an indefinite period.

Car Recall Largest Ever

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors announced Wednesday it is calling in 2,400,000 cars and trucks in which exhaust systems might leak fumes into the vehicles and 2,500,000 cars with a possibly faulty carburetor part which could cause the accelerator to stick.

The recall of the 4,900,000 vehicles is the biggest in auto history.

FATAL SPUR

The death by asphyxiation of four motorists in the United States last July spurred an investigation by the auto giant into the possibility of the exhaust system defects.

GM's decision to call the millions of units in for a checkup was described by the firm as "like calling in a haystack to find a needle." It said only 48 cases of carburetor trouble and 30 cases of exhaust emission troubles had been claimed by customers out of the millions of vehicles built.

NOTIFYING OWNERS

GM began Feb. 17 the multi-million-dollar job of notifying owners of 2,500,000 1968 and 1969 Chevrolets, Pontiacs, Oldsmobiles, Cadillacs, Buicks and GMC trucks equipped with four barrel quadra-jet carburetors of a potential defect.

In Ottawa, Ont., a spokesman for General Motors of Canada Ltd. said the company will begin immediately to notify Canadian owners of the recall by registered letter, but the mailing will take "some weeks" to complete.

INVOLVES $35,000

Involved in Canada are 535,000 cars and trucks, some made in Canada and others imported from the United States, he said. They include the same models listed in the U.S. announcement, 135,000 for carburetor repairs and 400,000 for body work to prevent exhaust leak.

The spokesman said there have been only two cases of cracked carburetor cars reported in Canada, and no reported instances of exhaust problems.

In simplest terms, the defect is a part—worth about a nickel in its initial form—was a tiny fast-idle cam. GM said thorough tests showed that, after extended wear, the cam might crack and ultimately break apart.

On the problem of adjustment to 2,400,000 1965-through-

1968 Chevrolets to prevent the possibility of exhaust emissions entering the vehicle, GM said the condition could exist only when the exhaust pipe is substantially out of line or deteriorated from use.

Two Skippers

Russians

Fined By Ghana

ACCRA, Ghana (UPI) — The captains of two Soviet trawlers held in custody for four months in this West African republic were fined $240 each Wednesday by a Ghanaian circuit court at Sekondi.

The court ordered six months jail in the event of non-payment of the fine.

The court found skipper Boris Chernokolov guilty on three counts of navigating the unlicensed vessel STRM 1243 within Ghana's territorial waters on or about Sept. 30 and Oct. 5, 1968. It found skipper Valentin Petrovich Parhomenko guilty on one count of navigating the unlicensed vessel Kholod in Ghana's waters last Oct. 10.

Both captains pleaded guilty to the charges.

Their trawlers were still detained by the Ghanaian authorities and an official of the attorney general's office hinted to reporters they might not be released immediately. This was because the captains may be required to appear before a commission probing allegations against former defence chief Air Marshal M. A. Otu that he plotted to stage a counter-coup against the ruling military regime of Gen. Joseph Ankrah.

During the four months the Russian skippers were held in jail, Ghanaian authorities probed the possibility that they restore left-leaning former president Kwame Nkrumah to power in Ghana.

Eyebrows Follow Hemlines

EDMONTON (CP) — Russell C. Nye's eyebrows are rising just as fast as his nurses' hemlines.

Nye, executive director of Royal Alexandra Hospital, said Wednesday several nurses had shortened their hemlines to mid-thigh despite a hospital regulation saying 1½ inches below the knee is suitable.

He said it wasn't the 360 resident student nurses who were the offenders but graduate ward nurses.

Nye said short uniforms destroy the hospital's image of stable, confident and respected employees.

"Who would want to leave a sick child with a nurse who looks like a pickup?" he asked.

Roof Cave-In Kills Goalie

BERLIN, N.H. (UPI) — The roof of a hockey arena caved in under five feet of snow Wednesday night, killing one player in a high school match below and injuring four spectators.

The dead youth was Norman Bouchere, 15, a goalie for Notre Dame high school who was in the nets when the roof fell in.

three months without touching port.
Interrogation of the Japanese crew, none of whom speaks English, was carried on through an interpreter.
Captain McLellan, 58, a veteran of 19 years in the fisheries protection service, said the Japanese vessel was about eight miles distant from the Tanu when he first spotted her. It had long-line fishing gear in the water and was about three miles inside the fishing zone.
He took a radar bearing on Hippa Island to check his position and radioed fisheries headquarters in Vancouver. Within two hours he received his orders to make the arrest.
The Tanu first picked up part of the Japanese fishing gear for evidence, then closed in, the BFT signal flying.

"She hoisted the answering pennant and we put a rubber boat," Captain McLellan said.
The boarding party consisted of an engine-room hand and a deckhand under command of Reg Watts of Victoria, the Tanu's chief officer.
Then McLellan hoisted the oode signal GJR—follow me—and led the Kotoshiro Maru some 120 miles into harbor here.
In Ottawa, Fisheries Minister

Jack Davies said in the Commons he believed the action will strengthen Canada's hand in the question of territorial limits.
After giving details of the incident, he said the question of headland-to-headland baselines on the west coast is under active consideration by the cabinet.

Stubborn Battles*Hard-Pressing Cong Drive Near Saigon

SAIGON (AP) — The new offensive by the Viet Cong guerrillas and North Vietnamese troops pushed Wednesday almost to the gates of the big United States air base at Bien Hoa, only 15 miles north of this South Vietnamese capital, and heavy fighting broke out.

U.S. intelligence officers speculated that Saigon, itself, is the goal of the drive.

NO LETUP

The battle raged less than a mile from the eastern perimeter of the Bien Hoa air base with no sign of letup as night fell. U.S. reinforcements were flown to the air base in case of a breakthrough.

The heaviest fighting was in Gia Kien, where South Vietnamese government rangers tried to root out dug-in Viet Cong and North Vietnamese with the help of U.S. tanks and helicopter gunships.

Field reports said U.S. and allied casualties at Gia Kien at nightfall were at least 20 killed or wounded. Viet Cong and North Vietnamese casualties were unknown but 20 prisoners were taken.

COPTERS BLASTED
In addition to the attacks around Bien Hoa, the Communist troops pulled a second surprise. About 60 sappers slipped through the defenses of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division base camp at Cu Chi and blew up 12 helicopters in the pre-dawn darkness. Cu Chi is 19 miles northwest of Saigon.

U.S. troops reported they killed 31 of the attackers and captured eight, but a dozen still were believed in hiding there. U.S. losses were listed as 14 killed and 50 wounded.

With Saigon the apparent target of the offensive which kicked off Sunday, U.S. B-52 Stratofortresses dropped tons of bombs on the approaches to the capital Wednesday night.

In Paris Talks*Lodge Notes Progress

PARIS (UPI) — Chief U.S. negotiator Henry Cabot Lodge declared Wednesday there has been some progress in the Vietnam peace conference despite the apparent talks deadlock.

The ranking U.S. diplomat, who heads the American delegation to the peace talks with North Vietnam and the Viet Cong, did not pinpoint the area in which he felt progress has been made, saying it "is rather hard to define."

In Hanoi, North Vietnam rejected in advance the expected allied protest against the communists' nationwide offensive. It said flatly "there is no tacit understanding between North Vietnam and the United States" that the communists will stop shelling cities in return for the bombing halt.

The North Vietnamese Communist Party paper Nhan Dan also said Lodge "keeps eluding the fundamental problems, thus deliberately preventing the conference from progressing."

Lodge talked briefly with newsmen following a 45-minute meeting with South Vietnamese Vice-President Nguyen Cao Ky at Ky's suburban Paris villa.

The chief American negotiator said he had called on Ky for "an exchange of views on the whole situation" because the South Vietnamese leader, who supervises his country's delegation to the talks, had just returned to Paris from Saigon.

Although Lodge would neither confirm nor deny it, western diplomatic observers said the two men met to discuss a strong protest the allies will deliver to the communists during Thursday's conference session.

Lodge was asked whether the allies would protest the current communist attacks against South Vietnamese cities as a breach of the "understanding" which led to a halt in American bombing raids against the north.

"I cannot tell you," Lodge replied, "not because I know and do not want to tell you, but because I don't know."

Lodge's remark about progress in the talks came in answer to the question whether he was optimistic about the future of the conference.

"I am an optimistic kind of man," Lodge remarked with a smile. "And while the progress is not very rapid, I feel there is some progress."

Ottawa Denies Diplomatic Abuse Charge

OTTAWA (CP) — Solicitor-General George McIlraith told the Commons Wednesday there is no evidence in files to indicate any abuse of diplomatic privileges involving a Canadian public servant.

The public servant was not identified in the House question-and-answer exchange. The minister was replying to a question asked Monday by Gordon Fairweather (PC—Punjab) who inquired about "possible abuses of diplomatic privileges by Canadians abroad, including a possible connection with narcotics offences in Mexico."

McIlraith said Wednesday he has studied the matter carefully. The inquiries involved a public servant who served abroad prior to 1951, and nothing in the files involved him in any questionable activities, said the solicitor-general. There had been no abuses of diplomatic privileges.

ONLY INDIRECT

McIlraith said the allegations "only indirectly concerned" the public servant, and did not involve anyone else in the diplomatic service.

McIlraith said the person concerned was under the care of a physician and was taking drugs which were not narcotic.

He said there have been investigations relating to a 1950 bankruptcy. "The matter is still current," he said.

TERM NOT USED

The solicitor-general said he hadn't used "this term." He had read the text of a broadcast by Paul Akehurst of Canadian Contemporary News. "I wonder if the association with messiness may not be there," he said.

David Lewis (NDP—Toronto York South) asked about certain alleged debts to Air Canada, whether anything had been collected and whether the RCMP was investigating.

NO JUDGMENT

McIlraith said there was a judgment against the person involved in the Supreme Court of Ontario March 13, 1968, but he didn't have any report on the progress of those proceedings.

Fairweather said outside the House Monday that "information has come to our hands about a highly-placed person allegedly using cars with diplomatic licence going to and from between Canada, through the United States, and Mexico." "It also involves a possible fraudulent bankruptcy."

Code Vote

Liberal Bolts Ranks

OTTAWA (CP) — Only one Liberal — Gordon Sullivan Hamilton Mountain bolted party ranks Wednesday as the Commons gave second reading by a vote of 158 to 54 to the government's omnibus bill amending the Criminal Code.

The Conservatives split, most of them not following leader Robert Stanfield, who voted for the bill which would legalize some forms of abortion and homosexual acts between consenting adults in private.

The NDP voted solidly for the bill and the Creditists solidly against.

Fifteen Conservatives voted for the bill and 39 against.

Stanfield, Gerald Baldwin, Conservative House leader, former trade minister George Hees and Wallace Nesbitt (PC-Oxford) were the only front-bench Conservatives in favor of the legislation, which now goes to the Commons justice committee for detailed examination.

Financial Act Changes Berated by Opposition

OTTAWA (CP) — Opposition MPs complained Wednesday that proposed changes in the Financial Administration Act means less and less parliamentary control over government spending.

C. M. Drury, president of the treasury board, told the Commons the amendments are in line with the report of the royal commission on government administration.

They will bring about more efficiency in the government's financial dealings, he said as the House began debate on the measure which later was given second reading and referred to committee for clause-by-clause study.

Opposition Leader Robert Stanfield said the whopping difference between the government's estimated spending for the year ending March 31, 1969, and the actual amount spent shows more is needed than called for by the bill.

The difference between Finance Minister Edgar Benson's estimated amount in the budget and amounts Parliament has been asked to approve is more than $200,000,000, he said.

The bill would abolish the office of comptroller of the treasury, transferring most of its responsibilities to the treasury board.

Hellyer Rap Triggered By Red Eye

OTTAWA (Special) — The daily presence of television cameras and crews in the halls of Parliament just outside the Commons doors has exploded as an issue between the government and opposition.

The trigger of the sudden blowup was Transport Minister Hellyer, accused by both Conservative leader Robert Stanfield and New Democratic leader T. C. Douglas of talking out of both sides of his mouth on the same question.

They charge he has given one set of answers to the Commons and another list of replies to the TV and radio crews.

The question had been about housing and why the federal government was delaying Central Mortgage and Housing financing of thousands of projects running high into multi-millions of dollars.

In the Commons, the opposition hadn't been able to pry any really firm answers out of Hellyer.

There may have been some delay in financing, he conceded, but where it was and what it involved, he couldn't be sure. But minutes later, out in the halls, performing before TV's big red eye, he had details to spare.

Bad from the Good

Most, if not all, projects were being delayed because the government was sorting the bad from the good, weeding out those public housing projects which, Hellyer suspected, came with built-in "sociological and psychological problems" because of their size.

Anyway, he went on, there were simply too many of them, so many as to be beyond the taxpayers' ability to finance. The treasury just didn't have that much money.

All this was news to the opposition when they read it in the newspapers, heard it on radio and saw it on TV.

Especially newsworthy to the Conservatives had been Hellyer's crack that the Tory government of Ontario had been trying to "hog" housing funds.

Stanfield's opener Wednesday was to sarcastically "congratulate" Hellyer for the "courage" of his statements on the other side of the Commons doors.

But Speaker Lucien Lamoureaux stopped him short, reminding Stanfield it was against the rules to question cabinet ministers about statements made outside the House.

This intervention earned the Speaker his first open rebuke by the opposition.

"Stop making difficulties," came a chorus of Tory protest.

This could be a watershed for the Speaker, for in his three years in the chair he has been praised alike by all parties for his absolute political neutrality.

Its Roar of Protest

But now, the Speaker was not only being openly rebuked by the collective opposition in its roar of protest, but also Stanfield bluntly told him his ruling was becoming "more and more irrelevant."

And this, said Stanfield, because of "the deplorable practice of cabinet ministers rushing out of the House to either answer questions (for the TV cameras) that they wouldn't answer in the Commons or give different answers to the same questions."

If the cabinet was going to say one thing inside and another just outside the Commons, then the ministers should be subject to opposition questioning on their frequently conflicting statements, he contended.

Douglas was next in hammering Hellyer.

He wanted to know what was behind up federal financing of public housing.

"I think it is largely the length of this daily question period," Hellyer told him. That ripped it.

And above the shouts of "shame!" by the opposition, Douglas could be heard ticking off Hellyer as a flip "smart aleck."

Further, Douglas snapped, if the Speaker didn't do something about his rules, the opposition might be compelled to bend or even break them.

Douglas Rushes Out

Moments later Douglas himself was out in the hallway of the Commons before those same TV cameras.

The TV rub was, he said, that cabinet ministers could say anything and the taxpayer looking and listening to their often different versions of their Commons statements had no way of cross-questioning them.

That was the job of the opposition, he argued, but it was being shortcircuited by the cabinet dashing out to tell it to TV, all nicely made to government measure.

But didn't press, radio and TV do a better job of cross-examination than the opposition?

Douglas didn't think so. Reporters could be too easily "snowed" by cabinet "generalities," when the ministers clammed up in the House and then told it the "way they want it" on television.

Opposition MPs were "experts, specialists" in such things as housing, he said, and while reporters might be a lot of things, experts they weren't.

Hot on Douglas' TV heels came Hellyer, "not the least" intimidated by the blast he had been given in the House.

"Tommy's losing his grip, getting old and running short on his sense of humor," said Hellyer. He suggested he had only been kidding Douglas, and it was "a real sad day" when "Tommy can't take a ribbing."

Only everybody but Hellyer insisted a whole lot more had been involved than laughs.

Blood Clinic Downtown

The Red Cross blood drive at the University of Victoria ended Wednesday with donation of 247 pints.

A total of 737 pints of blood was donated in the three-day drive.

Another drive will be held from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. and from 6:30 to 9 p.m. today and Friday at Red Cross House.

Ferries: Modified Facilities

The provincial government is going to spend an estimated $1,500,000 this spring to modify the ferry terminals at Swartz Bay and Tsawwassen to take the first of B.C.'s new "stretch ferries."

The announcement that approval had been given to the department of highways for tenders to be called on the project was made Wednesday by Premier Bennett as chairman of the treasury board. He said later the money allocated would be spent in roughly equal sums at both terminals.

THREE CONTRACTS

The treasury board announcement said three contracts would be involved: one covering modification to the Swartz Bay terminal, the second covering Tsawwassen marine structures, and third the Tsawwassen compound, parking and overhead passenger walk.

Highways Minister Wesley Black said he expected the tenders would be returnable within two weeks because the work must be completed by summer. The first stretch ferry will be created by cutting a vessel in half and extending the mid-section to provide a capacity of 200 cars.

Loffmark Confirms New Wing

Health Minister Ralph Loffmark confirmed Wednesday that a 150-bed extended-care wing will be built at Gorge Road Hospital, offering $1-a-day service.

The project will cost approximately $2,000,000 and is expected to be completed in 1970, freeing intensive care beds in Victoria's two general hospitals.

No starting date has been set. A 1968 hospital referendum authorized construction of up to 600 extended-care beds in the Capital Region. But the government must approve each project step by step and also sets cost limits.

Pop Art Stops Young Viewer

and is titled Heart of London. It gained critical acclaim when it was shown for first time in September, 1968, and tour was organized by National Gallery in Ottawa.—(William E. John)

Schools Given Go-Ahead

Premier Bennett announced Wednesday that the treasury board had approved calling of tenders on four Greater Victoria school construction projects totalling an estimated $712,000.

Two of the projects have been stalled in the school construction freeze for 15 months.

All of them additions and renovations, the jobs are:

● Gordon Head junior high, where the school board will spend an estimated $230,000 converting the school into a senior high. Eight rooms, including science and commerce centres, will be built.

● Oak Bay junior high, a $150,000 job comprised of three classrooms, three labs and a shop.

● Sir James Douglas elementary, which will get three classrooms, two kindergartens and a library at a cost of about $166,000.

● Cloverdale elementary, where the cost is also estimated at $166,000 for five classrooms, a kindergarten and a library.

Ship Robbed

Capt. Nikola Polimnakos of the Mv. Angelle Wings reported to Victoria police Wednesday that an oxygen regulator and an acetylene regulator, valued at $47.20, had been stolen from his ship, moored at Ogden Point Elevators.

University Apartments

Housing Project Near

By BILL STAVDAL

The University of Victoria will announce a major student housing project Friday, probably an apartment complex on campus for both single and married students.

No details were announced Wednesday by the university, but a campus source said it would be the apartment development, which has been planned for some time.

In its building requirements, the university gives high priority to student accommodation. Last month, Student Union Building manager Dick Chudley announced plans for on-campus housing for married students using funds from Central Mortgage and Housing Corp.

He said it was hoped to start this fall.

Last October, the university recommended to the Hellyer task force on housing that it provide 3-per-cent money for university residences and apartment buildings on campus, and for co-operative houses on and off campus.

This winter the university has an enrolment of 4,800 students, about 1,900 of them from out of town. The campus has residence accommodation for 141 women and 165 men.

Off-campus accommodation is hard to find, is more expensive and transportation is inconvenient, said the UVic brief to the Hellyer task force.

Enrolment by 1975 is expected to reach 9,150, while the availability of low-cost off-campus housing declines in the meantime.

The university, in its brief, termed the situation "a serious plight."

But Quarantine Boundaries Stay

Nematode End Near, Shelford Predicts

Agriculture Minister Cyril Shelford told the Legislature Wednesday he was confident the golden nematode outbreak in potato crops on the Saanich Peninsula would soon be completely eliminated.

The outbreak has already been brought under control here, the minister said during discussion of agriculture department estimates. He called it better success than had been achieved so far with similar programs in eastern Canada. He added: "It looks as though the golden nematode will be eliminated here."

Mr. Shelford, presenting his department's estimates for the first time since his appointment last June, was answering a question raised in the House by John Tisdale (SC—Saanich).

SIZE REDUCTION

The Scored backbencher said he was "unhappy" with the present situation and suggested the quarantine area established by federal authorities to control the nematode outbreak be reduced in size until is encompassed only the still-affected fields. Mr. Tisdale urged the minister to make "strong representation" to Ottawa on the quarantine issue.

Mr. Shelford replied he was advised the quarantine area had been "greatly reduced only in the last month."

SOME CHANGES

An officer of the federal plant protection division said Wednesday night that while provincial legislation had just been changed to reduce the quarantine area to about the boundaries of Central Saanich, no changes had been made by the federal government.

The present quarantine area will be effective until federal legislation is changed to allow a reduction of the area, the officer said.

Consumers' Week

Pharmacist Will Answer Drug Price Complaints

By DON GAIN

Greater Victorians who have a beef about drug prices will have a chance to ask questions about them Monday, thanks to the Victoria branch of Consumers' Association of Canada.

Mrs. George Forrest, president of the branch, said Wednesday that R. B. Alexander, president of the Victoria chapter of the British Columbia Professional Pharmacists' Society, would speak at a public meeting in the Douglas Room of The Bay at 1:30 p.m. Monday.

"We got a lot of complaints about the variance in drug prices," Mrs. Forrest said. "People can bring these problems to Mr. Alexander."

The meeting will mark the start of Consumers' Association of Canada Week, proclaimed here by Mayor Hugh Stephen. Also marking the week will be displays of packaging by four Victoria dairies and a soap company at The Bay, Eaton's and Woodward's department stores.

"We're very concerned about packaging," Mrs. Forrest said. "We want to buy the product, not cardboard."

BROCHURES

She said members of the association would be in the mall at Simpsons-Sears, Hillside, on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday to answer questions and hand out brochures.

The association was founded by personnel who worked for the Wartime Prices and Trade Board during the Second World War.

"They had all that experience in consumer affairs and didn't want to see it just evaporate," Mrs. Forrest said.

IMPROVE STANDARDS

The association was incorporated to:

● Unite the strength of consumers to improve the standard of living in Canadian homes.

● Study consumer problems and make recommendations for their solution.

● Bring the views of consumers to the attention of the governments, trade and industry, and provide a channel from these to the consumer.

● Obtain and provide for consumers' information and counsel on consumer goods and services and to conduct research and tests for the better accomplishment of the objects of the organization.

PILOT COURSE

Locally, Mrs. Forrest explained, the association was instrumental in having a pilot course on consumer education started at Esquimalt Junior High School.

It also submitted a brief to the provincial government on pollution and one on consumer credit which had some of its recommendations embodied in the Credit Protection Act.

The branch has a representative on the Textile Advisory Board which handles complaints about textiles and dry cleaning. "We're also plumping for standard sizes in clothing, starting with children's clothing, then hopefully including adults."

David Gough

Inquest Monday Into Boy's Death

An inquest into the death of David Gough, 4, will be opened at 7:30 p.m. Monday at McCall Bros. funeral home, Coroner Edmond Jorre de St. Jorre said Wednesday.

Funeral services for the boy have been postponed to 10:15 a.m. Tuesday at McCall's by Rev. Frederick W. Hayes. Cremation will follow.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gough of 2277 Marlene Drive, David died Monday night after he and a playmate fell through ice on Colwood Lake.

His friend, Gerald Solomon, 4, now is in good condition in St. Joseph's Hospital. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Solomon of 2272 Marlene Drive.

Islanders Plan Action

White Rock Hogging Sidney's Landmark

If White Rock will just return its 15-ton landmark to Sidney, where it belongs, Mayor A. W. Freeman will drop his plans for "severe action."

Mayor Freeman said Wednesday in a letter to Mayor Harry Douglas of White Rock that the stone was thrown over there in a fit of rage by the son of a sea god.

He cited an Indian legend as his authority.

According to the legend, passed on by Chief Bernie Charles of the Semlahmoo tribe, the sea god's son and the daughter of a Cowichan chief had been forbidden by their fathers to marry. The youth picked up the rock and threw it, declaring that he and his loved one would settle down wherever it landed.

Semlahmoo Bay—also called Half Moon Bay—was the lucky spot. But nothing was said in the legend about keeping the rock there.

Mayor Freeman said the rock had "sat idle" for hundreds of years, and "we want it back."

He is calling a meeting of friendly Indian chiefs to plan the necessary action.

Well, Pipe The Organ!

In among two-rank Scharffs, octave fours and chimney flutes of great organ of Christ Church Cathedral, Victoria organ builder Hugo Spilker installs new diapason pipes in preparation for recital by E. Power Biggs at 8 p.m. Tuesday. Mr. Spilker says English-born organist, many years a U.S. citizen, brought art of great classic organs of 17th and 18th century to North America.—(Jim Ryan)

Moore Does His Thing Again (And Again) in Senior Curling

HAMILTON (Special)—Gordie Moore, Dick Pick, Laurie Perlette and Joe Leibel not only did it again on Wednesday, they did it twice.

Winner of four last-rock decisions during the first two days of the Canadian seniors' curling championship, the Victoria Curling Club rink continued its hair-raising bid for the Seagram Stone with two more last-rock victories.

First, in the morning draw, came an 8-7, extra-end verdict over Dr. Wendell MacDonald and his Prince Edward Island champions from Charlottetown. Then, in the afternoon, a 7-6 victory over Gordon Walker's Alberta rink kept the Victorians a half game ahead of Al Phillips and his Torontonians. Phillips, the only other unbeaten skip, ran his victory streak to five games with an 8-3 morning win over Saskatchewan and a 9-6 conquest of Manitoba in the afternoon.

TODAY CRUCIAL

A break could come today with Phillips facing three tough games and Moore, who drew the bye for the evening draw, playing twice.

Moore meets Quebec's tough Ron Wright (3-2) in the morning and takes on Northern Ontario's Stan Brooker (3-3) in the afternoon. Phillips plays P.E.I., Alberta and Quebec in that order.

Unless either of the unbeaten rinks lose twice today, their last-draw clash on Friday could be the deciding game. Moore plays Newfoundland Friday morning before tackling Phillips while the Ontario rink starts Friday against Northern Ontario.

Another slow start

The Victoria rink got off to its usual slow start in both games. It trailed P.E.I. by 5-1 after four ends and by 6-3 after six ends and was 3-3 after three ends against Alberta before settling down.

It wasn't until the sixth end against P.E.I. that the Victorians started to curl together, and they had to wait until the seventh end to start a comeback when Dr. MacDonald made

Bruins End Slump At Kings' Expense

Adding two more of their regulars to their lineup, Boston Bruins ended a four-game losing streak Wednesday night and took up pursuit of the flying Montreal Canadiens by defeating Los Angeles Kings, 4-2, in Los Angeles.

With Canadiens, who have won 12 and tied one of their last 15 games, clobbering Detroit Red Wings, 7-2, in Montreal, victory enabled Bruins to stay within four points in the National Hockey League's East Division.

LEAD COMEBACK

Leading the Boston comeback were John McKenzie, playing for the first time in three weeks, and Phil Esposito, returning to action after a two-game suspension.

McKenzie, who helped set up Fred Stanfield for Boston's first-period goal, scored the winning goal with less than nine minutes left and then shot into an open net for the insurance goal with four seconds left.

Esposito resumed his bid for a point record by drawing assists on both of McKenzie's goals. Bobby Orr, who returned to the lineup last Sunday after missing almost two weeks, also drew assists on the two goals.

With a devastating early attack which gave them a 5-0 lead in the first period, featured by the scoring of three goals in 40 seconds.

Because goalkeeper Roy Ed-wards came up with three on four brilliant saves and John Ferguson and Mickey Redmond missed open goals, it took Canadiens more than eight minutes to get results.

Ferguson finally produced a

Cournoyer fired in the rebound after a great play by Jean Beliveau at 12:50.

Richard got a second goal with a sizzling shot at 18:30 and Canadiens, backed by a steady Lorne Worley, eased their way in from there.

In other games Wednesday, Toronto Maple Leafs scored a 3-2 home-ice win over St. Louis Blues, New York Rangers bested Chicago Black Hawks, 5-3, on New York ice and the Seals won a wild 6-5 game from Minnesota North Stars in Oakland.

Outshooting the West Division leaders, 39-20, Leafs had trouble with Glenn Hall and he didn't get their win until 89 seconds from time when Ron Ellis broke the tie. Ellis was put in by Norm Ullman, who also set up earlier goals by Paul Henderson and Floyd Smith.

Rangers, unbeaten at home in 12 games, outshot the Hawks, 54-25, and were prevented from making it a rout by the fine goaling of Denis DeJordy.

Bobby Hull scored his 43rd goal and drew assists on the other Chicago goals to move within eight points of Esposito in the individual point race. Hull has 86 points and Esposito, at 94, is within four of a record.

Rookie-centre Walt Tkaczuk assisted on four goals to tie a record.

That one came at 12:10, Dick Duff scored at 12:30 and Yvan good use of last rock to count one.

Moore, electing to draw for a second corner instead of hitting, made his shot to get to 5-6 on the seventh end, then went ahead when Dr. MacDonald fanned twice on takeouts on the eighth end.

Dr. MacDonald was successful in a roll-out try and blanked the ninth end to keep last-rock advantage coming home but had to hit and stay to force the extra end.

With the skips' rocks to come on the 11th end, the only rock in play was just in front of the rink. It belonged to the B.C. rinks, and it became a counter when Dr. MacDonald chipped it to the edge of the front four-foot ring trying to come around.

WINNING POINT

Moore missed trying to remove the front rock but MacDonald hit and stayed and Moore duplicated the shot for the winning point.

It was 5-5 against Alberta after seven ends and Moore kept an edge by scoring one on the eighth end with his last rock.

Determined to keep the hard-throwing Walker hitting, Moore played a freeze against an Alberta counter in the back ring with his first shot. He was only two inches away and Walker spilled both rocks with a fast runner and stayed with a piece of the eight-foot ring.

Moore tried another freeze and drew into the four-foot

Doug Gibson Celebrates Selection By Pacing Cougars to First Place

Victoria's P. W. L. T F A Pts. Cougars 27 29 10 3 209 129 48

Doug Gibson celebrated his selection as rookie-of-the-year with a three-goal effort Wednesday to lead Victoria Cougars to a 6-2 victory over the shorthanded New Westminster Royals before 1945 fans on Awards Night at Memorial Arena.

Victory over the last-place Royals boosted Cougars into first place in the tight battle for the B.C. Junior Hockey League championship, one point ahead of Idle Penelton Broncos.

Victoria can clinch the title with a win Friday in Penticton, the first of the three-games-in-three-days finale in the Interior to the regular season for Cougars.

ONCE PER PERIOD

Gibson scored once in each period to become the third Cougar this season to reach the 20-goal plateau. Grant Evans, who scored his 46th goal with a long shot off a post, and Adrian Blais, who has 20 goals, are the others.

Gibson opened the scoring early in the first period on the smoothest play of the night. Scott Munro passed rink-wide to Graham Brown who put Gibson alone over the blue line with a perfect pass and the Portland-raised centre pulled goalkeeper Bruce Dowd perfectly for his 19th goal.

GOALKEEPER TRAPPED

The 20th and 21st goals both came with Maurice L'Heureux, who replaced Dowd when the latter was cut in the head in the opening period, trapped out of the play and Gibson scooped the puck in from behind the net.

Lon Miles and Bruce Cowick, after several missed chances, were the other scorers for the Victoria team which failed to look impressive despite outshooting Royals, 54-38.

Ron Grahame was called on to make several tough saves as the Victoria team continued its inept play in its own zone which almost cost Cougars Saturday's victory over Vernon.

Mick Wilson and Al Knight scored on Cougar miscues to rob Grahame, who was chosen the player best combining ability and sportsmanship, of his first shutout.

Royals brought only 12 players with them including the two goalkeepers and left their sweaters at home by mistake, and borrowed blue tops from the Victoria Minor Hockey Association.

New Westminster needs two points in their final three games to move out of the league cellar.

Walton Rejoins Leafs

TORONTO — Mike Walton, who quit Toronto Maple Leafs last Wednesday because of differences with manager-coach Punch Imlach rejoined the Leafs Wednesday and played about 18 minutes in Toronto's 3-2 win over St. Louis Flyers.

Asked about the reconciliation, Imlach said: "Mike phoned me and asked if he could play tonight. I suggested he come down and we could talk it over, and he did. It's only fair if he feels that he can help the team that we should take him back. Everything happens for the best and I hope that this helps Mike along."

Wakeham Wins Berth In Doral Tournament

DORAL, Fla.—Victoria professional Bill Wakeham Wednesday qualified for his first crack at the big money in a Professional Golfers' Association tournament.

The 28-year-old Wakeham claimed the final berth in the $100,000 Doral Open by surviving an early-morning playoff with 18 other rivals.

Wakeham was one of 19 to tie for one berth and five "alternate" spots after carding a 73 Tuesday. Those shooting 72 or better qualified, and the Victoria pro just made the playoff by dropping an 18-foot birdie putt on the last green.

Two overnight withdrawals enabled Wednesday's 19-man field, who teed off at 5:15 a.m., to run for three berths. Two U.S. golfers picked off the first two spots with birdies on the first two holes.

Wakeham claimed the third spot by scoring a par three on a tough, 245-yard fourth playoff hole.

Determined to keep the hard-throwing Walker hitting, Moore played a freeze against an Alberta counter in the back ring with his first shot. He was only two inches away and Walker spilled both rocks with a fast runner and stayed with a piece of the eight-foot ring.

It was 5-5 against Alberta after seven ends and Moore kept an edge by scoring one on the eighth end with his last rock.

Determined to keep the hard-throwing Walker hitting, Moore played a freeze against an Alberta counter in the back ring with his first shot. He was only two inches away and Walker spilled both rocks with a fast runner and stayed with a piece of the eight-foot ring.

WINNING POINT

Basketball Vikings Thinking Victory

University of Victoria Vikings, encouraged by their vastly improved performance against UBC Thunderbirds, are thinking victory for Friday's basketball game against the Simon Fraser University Clansmen.

"Before the boys went against UBC or SFU with the idea that they could win," said coach Bob Bell of Vikings. "We could have taken the Thunderbird game but came up with some bad plays when we were not under pressure."

"We'll give Clansmen a real battle."

Vikings play Clansmen at the UVic gymnasium at 7:30 p.m. following the preliminary game between the institutions' Jayvee teams.

Clansmen, who recently defeated UBC in the annual two-game series between the clubs, have been accepted into the tough Evergreen Conference with Washington State teams and are contenders for an invitation to the NAIA tournament — United States' small school invitational meet.

SFU features former Oak Bay star Brian MacKenzie and Bill Robinson of Chemainus.

Friday is also a big night for Joe Iannarella's hockey Vikings, who need some help from last-place Queen's Own Rifles if they are to retain their Vancouver Island Hockey League Championship.

Stocker's North Americans took over first place with a win over Vikings last Friday and can clinch the title with a win tonight at 7:45. Vikings meet Butler Brothers at 9:15.

Other UVic teams meeting university opposition off the Island this weekend are the rowers, golfers, track, sailing and rugby squads.

The curlers and track team have the last chance to add to UVic's excellent start in the Western Canada Intercollegiate Athletic Association.

"We've had the best entry into the WCIAA of any first-year participation since the conference started," said Bell. "We didn't expect too much this season and our three titles are very rewarding. Other teams have done well also."

UVic's championship rink of skip Stuart Roche, third John McDonald, second Wayne Silver and lead Toby Barr are participating in the mens curling championships at University of Saskatchewan in Saskatoon which started Wednesday and continues through Friday.

Larry Corbett, Ed Day, Charlie Thorne, Reg Effa, Ross Morgan, Greg Fraser and Fred Johnson are accompanying coach Eric McCready to Winnipeg for the WCIAA track meet Friday and Saturday.

Rugby Vikings will attempt to increase their unbeaten record in the Pacific Northwest Collegiate Conference when they play Western Washington in Bellingham on Saturday.

Rowers, sailors, and golfers all have weekend dates in Vancouver.

Defending Champs File Entry For Colonist Tenpin Bonspiel

Bill Robertson, Millie Skinner, Bernie Burghardt and Dave Barr are back to defend their honors.

The Pepsi-Cola combination which won the $500 first prize last year was one of the first entries received for The Daily Colonist's sixth annual Vancouver Island Tenpin Bonspiel, scheduled over the Easter weekend, April 3-7, at Mayfair Lanes.

Also back intact is Wally Ostafychuk's lineup of Nick Bergum, Vince Brown and Jack Lum, which was beaten last year in the semifinals of the Colonist event.

OTHER EARLY ENTRIES

Early entries also include the Individuals, who lasted until the eighth of the Colonist event last year as a team of first-season bowlers, and Johnnie's Service of Ladysmith, the 1967 champions.

No change has been made in the bonspiel format from last year. The teams of four bowlers (any combination of the sexes) are assured of a minimum of three three-game matches and all must be beaten twice before losing the chance at the bigger shares of the guaranteed $2,000 in cash prizes.

All teams enter the Colonist event and drop into the Mayfair event after their first loss right up until the Colonist semifinals have been reached. Teams losing their first two games will play in Gar's Trophies event.

Twelve teams are assured of prizes. In addition to the $500 to the winning team, the Colonist event offers $250 to the beaten finalist and $125 to each of the losing semifinalists.

First complete entries:

WALLY CO (240): Nick Bergum 177, Vince Brown 171, Jack Lum 163, Wally Ostafychuk 161.

NUTS & BOLTS (408): Bob Bull 173, Harry Beaslet 135, Al Placher 136, Wally Lum 163.

PEPSI-COLA (337): Bill Robertson 173, Millie Skinner 147, Bernie Burghardt 137, Dave Barr 174.

OPTIMISTS (833): Horst Sukala 135, Irma Sukala 134, Loreen Reid 136, Wallace Reid 104.

THE WALNUTTO (405): Bud Clarke 161, Tom Alexander 154, Ken Moulson 161, Joe Moore 135.

FOUR DEES (628): Jack Davies 140, Pat Davies 141, Jane Davies 136, John Davies 132.

The prize split is $400-$200-$100-$100 in the Mayfair event and another $200 is offered in Gar's Trophies event.

Team scratch is 800 and handicap is based on 80 per cent of the difference between 800 and the combined team average. Highest league average, on a minimum of 21 games as of Feb. 15, is to be used.

Entry fee is $3 per bowler.

($12 per team) and bowling is to be paid for, as at regular league charges, the three-game matches are played. Entry limit is 128 teams.

Play will start Thursday night, April 3, for Victoria-area teams drawn against each other and will swing into a day-long schedule for the next three days on the Friday morning. Finals in the three events are on Monday evening, April 7.

Record Salary for Yaz

WINTER HAVEN, Fla. (AP) — Slugger Carl Yastrzemski signed a two-year contract Wednesday for what Boston Red Sox said they believe to be the highest salary in baseball's American League.

"He is the best player in the American League and as far as I know this will make him the highest paid player in the league."

It was estimated that Yastrzemski was paid $100,000 last year, and that Frank Robinson of Baltimore Orioles was the highest paid player in the league with a reported $115,000.

Yaz led the league in batting last year for the third time with a .301 average. He won the league's triple crown in 1967 while leading the Red Sox to the pennant.

Dear D.B.S.

Could you please help us on our labour problems?

Dear DBS:

Our labour contract is coming up for negotiation and we need all the statistics we can get to help us arrange a new agreement. Could you please help us with any useful material?

Yours in haste,
 Bud Smith

Dear Mr. Smith:

It is not clear from your letter whether you represent management or labour. Either way, however, DBS information is widely used to analyze wage and salary levels and, in many cases, for escalation clauses in wage agreements in accordance with the movement of wages and salary levels and of prices as measured by DBS.

DBS records and publishes monthly wage and salary information by industries and by regions and selected cities of Canada which provides trends of wage and salary levels. The Department of Labour in Ottawa can supply wage-rate information for specific occupations and other data.

We'd be pleased to include you as a regular subscriber to our reports on employment and prices, if you wish. Sample copies of these and related publications are enclosed.

DBS information can help you make profitable business decisions. No matter what you sell or how big, or small, your business is, DBS statistics can help you define the size of your market, your share of the market and its growth prospects . . . make comparisons of your own operating results, costs and profits with those of your business or industry as a whole . . . analyze product trends, prices and wages . . . indicate import competition and export opportunities . . . help determine where best to locate that new plant, new store or new branch—and much more. # Shaw Trial Hears Story Change

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Two defence witnesses testified Wednesday that only fear of reprisals by District Attorney Jim Garrison kept Garrison's star witness from going back on his story that he saw Clay Shaw plotting to kill President John Kennedy.

One of them quoted Perry

Russo, Garrison's most damaging witness so far against Shaw, as saying he knew Shaw was not involved in a conspiracy but if he said so, "Garrison will clobber me."

Attorney Irvin Dymond said the defence definitely would rest its case Thursday after putting Shaw on the stand.

James Phelan, a staff member of the now-defunct Saturday Evening Post, said Russo told him he was afraid to meet face-to-face with Shaw because he would know Shaw was not the man he had seen with David Ferrie and Lee Harvey Oswald at an alleged conspiracy session.

Another defence witness, New Orleans Police Lieut. Edward

O'Donnell, said Russo told him Shaw was not there.

"He told me Clay Shaw was not at Dave Ferrie's apartment," O'Donnell said. He said Russo later retracted that story and said he was afraid Garrison would charge him with perjury.

Phelan also said Russo was afraid of possible reprisals by Garrison.

O'Donnell said he made a four copy report of his conversation with Russo and sent Garrison a copy.

O'Donnell admitted saying in the report he falsely told Russo he made a tape recording of the first conversation in an effort to make Russo go back to his former statement that he did not see Shaw at the meeting.

Hovercraft Session

Hazards Topic Friday

The president of Pacific Hovercraft Ltd., Barry Jones, will discuss hovercraft transportation and answer questions about it at a public meeting in Cordova Bay School at 8:30 p.m. Friday. The meeting has been arranged by the Hovercraft Study Committee, an informal group of Cordova Bay residents concerned with "the hazards of a hovercraft" in their district.

The municipality of Oak Bay has rejected an application by the hovercraft company for a terminal at Oak Bay Marina. Saanich council passed a motion to keep the study committee informed of any application by a hovercraft company for a terminal.

Last week, the Capital Region Planning Board, after a study of the area, recommended the Inner Harbor and the north end of Saanich Peninsula, in that order, as the best places for terminals.

Refuge Comes To End

A U.S. army deserter who found refuge in Canada for about seven months was arrested by RCMP officers in a fishing village on Vancouver Island for overstaying. Magistrate William Ostler was told in Central Magistrate's Court Wednesday.

Paul Lambdin of no fixed abode was fined $100 or one month when he pleaded guilty to overstaying, contrary to the Immigration Act.

ONE WEEK

Constable Alfred Kemplin, RCMP, testified that Lambdin entered Canada Aug. 4, 1968, and was allowed by the Canadian immigration authorities to stay for one week. At the end of this period, he failed to return to the U.S. or report to the Immigration office.

He was arrested in Uchalest Feb. 16.

ORDERED OUT

Constable Kemplin said Lambdin who was absent without leave from the U.S. Army, came from Oakland, Calif.

As a result of an immigration inquiry conducted Wednesday morning, he said, Lambdin was ordered to be deported.

Asked by the court, Lambdin said he was working in Uchalest "unofficially."

For possession of an ounce of marijuana, John Coward of 10041 Fifth Street, Sidney, was sentenced to three months in jail and bound over for one year on $250 good behavior bond.

After reading a pre-sentence report, Magistrate Ostler told Coward that the report was a favorable one and he did not think a long jail sentence would be good for him or the public. Coward admitted at a previous hearing the possession of the drug Feb. 14.

Found drunk in the driver's seat of his car, Frederick Jackson of 241 1/2 Old Island Highway was charged with being impaired while having care and control of the vehicle. He pleaded guilty to the charge and was fined $350 or 35 days. The courts also ordered suspension of his licence.

Police told the court that Jackson's car was seen parked at a peculiar angle on Highway 1A on Feb. 9. Jackson admitted he had had 10 glasses of beer earlier that day.

Revelle Gahan, of 784 Hockley, pleading guilty to failing to remain at the scene of a traffic accident, was fined $100 or 15 days.

Police said that, after Gahan's car had collided with a parked car on Fort Nov. 30, he drove off. He was located by police the next day.

Before Magistrate Joseph Byers, Gerald Armstead of 2764 Strathmore pleaded guilty to impaired driving and was fined $300 or 30 days. His licence was also recommended for suspension.

The court was told Armstead was seen driving his car around two corners in a wide fashion from the Old Island Highway to Trans-Canada Highway at 12:40 p.m. Feb. 8.

CAR WEAVING

On several occasions, the car was seen weaving back and forth and touching the centre line.

It was also noted that Armstead accelerated his car to 60 miles an hour in the posted 50-mile-an-hour zone.

When Armstead was stopped by police, his breath smelled of alcohol and he was unsteady on his feet.

Eugene Mathe of no fixed abode, who was convicted of vagrancy by Magistrate Ostler Tuesday morning, appeared before him again Wednesday on a similar charge.

After hearing evidence that Mathe was seen begging from pedestrians Tuesday afternoon on Government, and magistrate sentenced him to 20 days in jail.

In the previous case, Mathe was bound over for six months on a $100 good behavior bond when he told the court he was planning to leave for Duncan, where he could find a job.

Smoked Alaska Cod Poached in Milk

Measure thickness of fish, wipe with a damp cloth, simmer in covered pan in milk or water until it flakes easily when tested with a fork. Allow 10 minutes cooking time for fresh fish, and 20 minutes per inch thickness for frozen fish. Season with pepper and serve with milk thickened to make a white sauce.

The fish may be poached in milk or water on top of the stove or baked in the oven at 450 degrees. Do not over-cook. Smoked Alaskan Cod is very rich when poached in milk.

Insurance Study Extended

The legislative committee studying the Wootton car insurance recommendations won an extra week to make its report after the House gave unanimous consent Wednesday to extend the deadline to March 14.

Committee chairman Herb Capozzi (S.C.—Vancouver Centre), who said earlier it was impossible to make a complete study and report by March 7, asked for House leave for the committee to meet in the afternoon during House sittings.

Premier Bennett rose to say he would support afternoon sessions, but thought it more important for members to attend the departmental estimates debate now in progress.

COMMITTEE REPORT

Opposition Leader Robert Strachan proposed an extended deadline and Alex Macdonald (N.D.P.—Vancouver East) moved that the committee report "March 14."

At the committee's morning session, John Atkinson, president of Allstate Insurance of Canada, suggested a limited no-fault plan similar to Saskatchewan's, but excluding the government as an insurance agent. Mr. Atkinson said he would like to see compulsory no-fault insurance to cover both first-party injuries and death and also property damage without deductibles. This would be merged with further voluntary third-party liability insurance.

DIFFERENT PLAN

His plan differed from the Wootton recommendation in that it would retain lawsuits for liability judgments and would continue to insure vehicles rather than drivers, Mr. Atkinson said. If forced to underwrite the Wootton plan, insurance companies would lose money, Mr. Atkinson said. When questioned by committee members, he indicated current profits were rising within the industry as well as costs.

Ray Haynes, B.C. Federation of Labor secretary, told the committee, "The public is fed up with exhaustive studies that have been going on for 20 years now on auto insurance."

ALL THE WAY

He said his federation thought the Wootton report went "only half-way" toward a fully government-operated insurance scheme, and urged the committee to "go all the way" and establish a no-fault government plan.

Minister Without Portfolio Grace McCarthy asked if the federation was not contradicting its stand on civil rights by advocating an insurance system which prohibited lawsuits.

Mr. Haynes replied driving was considered a privilege and not a right. He said car insurance was considered by the federation as being in the same category as workmen's compensation, in which unions gave up the right to sue employers.

Farming Costs

Machinery Control Advocated

British Columbia needs legislation to control the supply of farm machinery and parts, the provincial legislature was told Wednesday.

William Hartley (N.D.P.—Yale-Illoco) said that, regardless of the make of machinery, parts should be interchangeable.

Parts deposits should be centrally located so farmers could get the parts they needed, even during weekends.

Mr. Hartley said farm machinery currently is "pretty well monopoly-controlled."

HIGH WAGES

Don Phillips (S.C.—Peace River South) said the farmers are paying for the high wages granted to factory workers in eastern Canada and the United States. This added to their cost squeeze problem.

The comment came during debate on estimates of $34,342 for the minister of agriculture's office for the coming fiscal year.

Vancouver Firm Wins Contract

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Vancouver firm of Canadian Dynamics Instrument Division Ltd., has won the final major equipment contract to be awarded for B.C. Hydro's system control centre on Burnaby Mountain. The firm was the lowest of 11 bidders at $118,086 for the contract for solid state and interface relay equipment.

Shelford Position Wins NDP Plaudit

Agriculture Minister Cyril Shelford was praised by an opposition MLA in the legislature Wednesday for taking a "significant step" in extending his department's influence beyond farming into consumer protection.

Norman Levi (N.D.P.—Vancouver South) said in the field of consumer protection at present there was "a plethora of federal departments mucking about" but nothing he regarded as positive action.

The interest shown by Mr. Shelford since his appointment to the cabinet last June in changing the name of his department to food and agriculture, indicated a healthy desire to protect consumers in purchase of food products, the NDP member said. The portion of the consumer dollar spent on food in under study by the House committee on agriculture this session.

Mr. Levi was also critical of what he called the "strange anachronism" of a single federal department being established to deal with both corporate affairs and consumer protection.

"I take the view," Mr. Shelford replied, "that my department must be interested in agricultural production right from the farm to the consumer's table. To keep our quality high, we must keep interested in the whole process."

Mr. Levi asked the minister to provide "specifically some kind of controls over frozen food products" in B.C.

Stupich Warns House:

Protect B.C. Farmland

Dave Stupich (N.D.P.—Nanaimo), told the B.C. Legislature Wednesday the government should act now to protect farmland from urban sprawl.

Mr. Stupich, only one of the 35 MLAs in the House to hold a degree in agriculture, said by 1980 California will have no surplus food for export and B.C. should act now as it will be forced to grow food to support a much larger population.

A quarter-mile area of the lower Fraser Valley could support five times the current population and sufficient land would be left over for farms, green belts and recreation, if proper planning was undertaken now.

"There's no reason to use up more land for urban sprawl," he said. "The remaining land that is good for agricultural purposes should be reserved for that purpose."

Agriculture minister Cyril Shelford said he is concerned about the loss of farmland to urban development. But he said B.C.'s current estimates that two per cent of its land was suitable for farmland could be increased to four per cent through use of fertilizer and irrigation.

High Fashion a Woman's Dream

You would hardly be human—womanly so, anyway—if you were at the fashion show presented at Norfolk House School Wednesday evening and didn't come away wanting an entire new wardrobe.

Navy, white and shades of lilac seemed to predominate, although there was every rainbow shade to choose from this spring.

H. R. Clayton, better known as Sebastian, did an interesting job of commenting on the lovely fashions from his shop.

I'm sure most everyone was very interested in the clever, saffron-yellow ottoman evening gown with wrap-around long skirt that could be removed leaving a pretty daytime dress. It was cut in a low, bowed V at the back.

One of the prettiest evening gowns was a chiffon print in shades of yellow, orange, grey, and green in Empire style. The bodice was ruched and outlined with narrow silver, green velvet and the skirt was gracefully full.

Another long gown—hostess of dinner—on Empire line, was the feminine sheer white blouse with lace cuffs and jabot and long brown and white polka dot skirt. This was banded at the high waistline in brown velvet.

A gorgeous, dressy double-breasted suit was of fine white wool crepe with modified Nehru collar and luxurious white fox at the cuffs. Still another lovely ensemble was a silk dress and three quarter lace coat which I don't know whether to say was off-white or palest beige. Absolutely luscious.

The pale lilac cocktail dress of satin back crepe, featuring long bat sleeves, I don't think too many people could wear. Not because of the sleeves alone but because from the high roll collar it was slashed in front to the waistline.

There was a swatch of material that went with this dress in case someone didn't quite trust the plunging neckline.

More practical was the pretty lilac floral print short dress with a lilac top coat. The dress was washable. A colorful number was the hot pink coat-dress styled with Napoleon collar and cuffs and coral crimplene short dress thinned in sharp white was machine washable.

A mauve wool pant suit also featured the Napoleon collar and cuffs and a bright rust pant suit of washable fortrel had those appropriately named elephant pants.

Another coat-dress outfit combined the popular suede and leather. The sleeveless tweed dress had bands of leather at the neckline and hem and the beige suede coat was also banded in leather.

There were many other smart outfits but there just isn't room to describe them all.

The girls who did such a magnificent job of modelling were Astrid Boagans, Jackie Fayad, Heather Bailey, Lee Purches, Carmela Costigan, Lorna Morrison and Joan Lawson.

Making the show doubly interesting was Norma Fitzsimmons, showing how to wear flowers both with evening and daytime models.

There is big excitement in the hair dressing world in Victoria.

One of the top stylists in the world, George Bundy, will be here for the Victoria Styling Council annual spring show at the Empress Hotel Sunday and Monday.

Furniture Name of Game

My uncle, who runs the day he died up with this outfit, wrote the courthouse the other day and said, "If you have any plans to get rid of the large cannon in the centre of town, please don't tell my wife."

In addition to his signature the letter carried those of 14 other male members of our family.

That's the thanks we women get for trying to save money. All we've done is to switch around a few pieces of furniture. When I took mother's old bedroom suit, I naturally gave my cousin the baby furniture to make room for it. She gave her spare bed to her sister who then gave my aunt her sewing machine.

Of course, when mother got the new organ, I got the den pieces and gave my aunt the ping pong table. She in turn gave her tilt-back chair to her mother-in-law. Her mother-in-law gave a card table and four chairs to her other son.

My uncle staggered in the other night and said, "When is this game of musical furniture going to stop?"

"You are just being dramatic," I said. "You're to take the mattress and springs out of our garage and over to Jean's house and then pick up the love seat from your house and bring it back here."

"Can't I even change my shirt? I've been in that rental truck for three solid weeks."

"Is it my fault your wife bought new draperies that didn't match anything? What's the matter, don't you feel well?"

"It's nothing. Only a hernia. I've just got to stop laughing."

"This is your last trip. Evelyn's husband is coming over for the storm windows. Our old ones almost fit their breezeway. Isn't that a stroke of luck?"

"I wouldn't be surprised if he cast himself adrift in a small rowboat."

"I have to get that garage cleared out," I said. "Laying the sod is going to be a mess."

He swayed, then steadied himself at the door. "What sod?"

"Cousin Harold is clearing off some land and has given it to us for the hauling. I'm sure your wife will want some."

"This can't go on," he shouted hysterically. "I've lost my job because of absenteeism, my creditors are taking legal action, my health is failing, I don't have any friends any more. Don't you understand, I'm miserable. They even came out and took my colored television back."

"Perfect," I grinned. "You remember my husband's cousin, Lynn? Well, they are getting a new TV set and she said just the other day she had to get rid of her old one. It needs a tube or two, but let's see... as long as you've got the truck there, you might as well pick up the rocking chair she was going to pitch. Then I could give mother my over-stuffed chair and she could give her sister those end tables and... do you know something about the cannon that we haven't heard?"

Japan Figures Wedding Cost

TOKYO (AP)—An average marriage cost $1,388 in Japan in 1968, the welfare ministry reported. The cost included $416 for the ceremony and reception, $139 for the honeymoon, $694 to furnish a residence for the newlyweds and $139 for miscellaneous expenses, the ministry said. Japan had about 950,000 marriages in 1968.

Less Spent On Eating

PARIS (Reuters)—Frenchmen have drastically reduced the portion of their income they spend on food and drink during the last 18 years, says an official report on consumer habits. The report said the French spent 30 per cent of their income on eating and drinking in 1968 compared with 46 per cent in 1950.

Designers Casting Manpower Lure

By EUGENIA SHEPPARD
NEW YORK — Designers' names may be household words with women, but they're longing to make clothes for men. Women have been labelled extravagant for years, but it turns out that men are the real spenders. The pennies women's fashions bring are nothing to the windfall when men go on a buying spree.

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: Do you know that the majority of people in this country are dumb, careless, lazy, and they love to chisel? I retired just in time. I don't think I could have survived another 30 days of dealing with the lousy American public.

As the head of a repair service department, I met just about everybody. This is what I learned: All kinds of people — the well-educated, the ignorant, the rich, the poor, the old and the young — they all want something for nothing. Furthermore, they can't read or they don't want to. They ignore instructions and assume that the rules were written for other people. They bring in electric coffee makers, toasters, irons, portable radios, stereos and

Every Name in Book

I've been called every rotten name in the book and several names not in any book. Some people think the dirtier they talk to the salesperson, the more intimidated he will become and the better their chances of getting something for nothing. Please print my letter, Ann. Maybe it will shake up a few million people. And it might make life a little easier for the unfortunate woman who took my job. —LIBERATED AT LAST.

Dear Lib: Customers bringing in broken appliances are understandably irritated and belligerent. This is no justification for abusing salespeople, however, and I hope all the rude and thoughtless customers will take note.

Dear Ann Landers: Our college sophomore daughter is going steady with a law student. His name is Jason. A few weeks ago Cynthia wore a pantsuit and her boyfriend didn't like it. He told her to go put on a skirt. She refused. Finally he said, "O.K. you win, but this isn't the end of it."

Last night Jason showed up in a skirt. My husband answered the door and almost collapsed. You can't imagine the shock at seeing a 6'1", 200-pounder in knee socks (hairly legs showing) — wearing a plaid jumper with pleats. When Cynthia saw him she gasped. Jason greeted her with, "It's a kilt."

They left to fight it out in private. My husband thinks Cynthia should not have gone with him. I don't know what to think. Do you? —HUNG JURY.

Dear Jury: It sounds like kilt to me, Madame, in which case, yes it's a respectable outfit. Somewhat unconventional unless worn to a clan meeting, but respectable nevertheless.

fashions to add a collection for men. He has signed a contract with Brookfield, and everything is all set except designing the clothes.

Most designers have concentrated on the rich, well-heeled, and not so young. Kerry Lane, though, is aiming at customers who are 18 to 24. They're easygoing and eager for anything with a flair.

The Dior clothes for men, which will be available soon here at Weber and Heilbroner, were designed by Marc Bohan in Paris but manufactured over here. The fashions, though, that made their first appearance on the runway at the Hotel Pierre are not the same as those that Parisians will see in the men's boutique, part of Maison Dior on the Avenue Montaigne.

"In Paris, the men's clothes will be only made to order," said Marc Bohan who spent a week in New York rehearsing the American male models and getting the right accessories for the show. He was wearing one of his own chalk-stripped, navy ready-to-wear suits.

For the Dior show, the Pierre was the smoke-filled ballroom of all time. It was jammed with both men and women, intrigued by the idea that even top-of-the-heap Dior now believes fashion isn't just for girls.

A Lovelier You: Allergy Can Puff Up

By MARY SUE MILLER

A woman writes: My eyelids quite often puff up. Why should this be? I am not yet 30 years old and my health is very good. Is there a cosmetic that would minimize the puffy look?

The answer: When a young woman has no basic health problems, puffiness around the eye is usually localized condition. An allergy or dermatitis may be the root of your trouble. It also can be triggered by the need for glasses or corrected lenses. A visit to an ophthalmologist is therefore a wise move, particularly when swelling occurs with frequency.

An occasional swelling of the lids may be caused by simple eye fatigue. The lids often puff up when the eyes are tired from glare, close work and lack of sleep. An evening spent in a smoky, crowded nightclub might well bring about morning-after-puffiness.

And there's where two simple cosmetic measures would prove safe and effective to use. The first reduces swelling by way of cold water compresses — three minutes on, three off and three on, making a total of nine minutes in all. The full effect comes gradually about 15 minutes after the treatment. Puffiness is further minimized by filming the lids with brown, hypoallergenic eye-shadow. Too, it may help to avoid heavy coats of cream in the eye area. A little goes far on puff-prone eyes.

Mental Health Report Lashes Law

OTTAWA (CP) — A person found unfit to stand trial may be neither insane nor guilty but can wind up in a mental hospital, unable either to appeal the process that put him there or clear himself of the accusation.

A person who is mentally ill may be falsely accused but remanded indefinitely as unfit to stand trial, the accusation still hanging over him.

A person acquitted on account of insanity becomes subject to detention for an indeterminate time under a lieutenant-governor's order or warrant. He may be sane at this point but has no right of appeal.

A mentally disordered person may be tried, convicted, sentenced and imprisoned in an institution "so overwhelmed by the volume and severity of such cases that the facilities have become pathogenic in themselves."

'DISQUIETING' REPORT

A Canadian Mental Health Association report, released Wednesday on the criminal process and mental disorder raises these and other "disquieting" situations.

The 11 authors—among them psychiatrists, lawyers, magistrates and academics—offer a raft of recommendations for change.

It recommended a series of measures to provide for reviews where persons are being held under lieutenant-governor's orders in prison or hospital.

LITTLE CHANCE

"There has been clear authority for holding them; a paucity of authority for letting them out," the report says.

It proposes that the "habitual criminal" and "dangerous sexual offender" sections of the Criminal Code be replaced by provision for indeterminate sentences of "dangerous offenders" only.

It says 60 days rather than 30 should be given to allow a determination of fitness to stand trial and the determination should be based on a series of clear questions to be answered by the examining psychiatrist.

There should also be frequent and periodic reviews where detention follows a decision that an accused is unfit.

The report proposes a system by which a judge could discharge a guilty person without convicting him on condition that he take psychiatric treatment.

He could be discharged with or without probation where psychiatric evidence indicated mental disorder at the time of the offence but recovery by the time of trial.

In cases of continuing disorder, a conviction could be used to send a person for confinement in a mental hospital rather than prison.

INCOMPATIBLE

In cases where an accused was found to be "chronically dangerous," provision could be made for indefinite segregation—with review provisions.

The report says there are paradoxical and incompatible approaches to mental treatment in the correctional process.

"No one familiar with correctional practices could assess them as conducive to mental health in any ordinary meaning of that term," it says in one stinging paragraph.

Job Choice In Month

A decision will be made in about four weeks on replacing Earl Dicknoether as secretary-manager of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, a spokesman said Wednesday.

Mr. Dicknoether, who recently resigned, still takes an industrial development and business coordinating post in Dawson Creek. A total of 43 applications had been received for his post up to Tuesday, about one-third of them local.

Social History Journal Initiated

British Columbia has a new journal of social history, called B.C. Studies, which publishes its first issue this week.

Blenkinsop

Property owners in the Blenkinsop Valley have been invited to a meeting at 8 p.m. today in Saanich municipal hall to discuss the past, present and future of the area with the Saanich Advisory Planning Commission and the municipal planning department.

The scholarly quarterly contains an article by University of Victoria military historian Dr. Reginald Roy, on the first military intelligence report of the B.C. Interior.

In it Dr. Roy recalls fears at the end of the 19th century that the U.S. might easily cut the Canadian Pacific Railway in this province if hostilities broke out between the U.S. and Britain.

Historian Charles W. Humphries of UBC reviews the 1920 banning of a high school Canadian history text by W. L. Grant.

The B.C. education department bowed to critics who condemned the text as being anti-British and pro-Catholic and French-Canadian. B.C. Studies is published at Room 203, Auditorium Building, UBC. Two University of Victoria professors are on the editorial board, Dr. Roy Watson, head of the UVic faculty of anthropology and sociology, and Neil Swainson, associate professor of political science.

World Moves Closer To Smallpox Control

GENEVA (Reuters) — The World Health Organization Wednesday reported significant progress in eliminating smallpox, with total cases last year expected to be about 70,000—40 per cent less than in 1967. Of an estimated 1,000,000,000 persons living in smallpox epidemic zones, 200,000,000 were vaccinated last year.

National-Leader Contest

Tory Clash Avoided

OTTAWA (CP) — The Progressive Conservative party appears to be successfully avoiding any renewal next month of the clash between the factions led by former prime minister John Diefenbaker and former president Dalton Camp.

The party's annual convention here March 10-12 therefore may further serve to bind up the wounds still left from the 1967 open fight which ended with the ouster of Diefenbaker as party leader.

A young Newfoundland businessman seems to be the leading contender for the party presidency vacated by Camp last fall.

has been working hard for the job.

His only opponent apparently will be former MP Lewis Brand of Saskatoon, long time Diefenbaker loyalist.

Party sources said Wednesday that a new confrontation between the Diefenbaker and Camp followers will be avoided by the fact that Moores was not associated with Camp's group.

The only possible candidate for the presidency who might have been considered a pro-Camp man was Howard Graffey, former MP for Mississauga.

IN INTERVIEW

Graffey said Wednesday in an interview that he will not seek the presidency.

Informants said that national vice-president James Doak of Virden, Man., has also given up thoughts of running.

Moores seems set on a national political career. He has bought a house in Toronto and moved his family—wife and seven children—there. He was in Montreal Wednesday seeking Quebec support for his candidacy.

SPEECH LISTED

Camp is expected to attend the policy meeting but it is not definitely known whether he will speak. The agenda lists a speech by the party president but Camp has formally given up the job.

Camp and his followers managed to dispose Diefenbaker on the strength of a resolution that there should be automatic, periodic review of the leadership.

But nothing was ever done about the resolution at the leadership convention in September, 1967, which elected Robert Stanfield party leader.

CURRENT PLANS

The party now plans to pay off this debt, so to speak, to Diefenbaker.

The constitution committee will recommend regular leadership review to the convention. Stanfield has not objected.

The Conservative Student Federation will meet here March 7 as a prelude to the full meeting to be attended by some 1,200 delegates.

The youth arm of the party will meet March 8 and the women's organization the next day.

Case of Elusive Millions Subject for Peru Probe

LIMA, Peru (UPI) — Peru's military government set up a commission Wednesday to find out how the expropriated U.S.-owned International Petroleum Co. got an alleged $19,000,000 out of the country during a 10-week period in which it was in government hands.

The top-level group was specifically instructed to find out if the state-owned EPF oil enterprise, the Central Reserve Bank of Peru, "for any other entity or person" had been negligent.

The money, in U.S. dollars, left the country between Oct. 9 and Dec. 31 at the same time the state oil company, the EPF, was dunning IPC for an alleged bill roughly equivalent to the same amount.

All assets of PCI, a subsidiary of Esso Standard Oil Co., N.J., have been embargoed by the government which alleges the American firm has operated illegally in Peru for more than 40 years. The assets are being evaluated and are to be put up for auction.

A foreign ministry team of legal and maritime specialists meanwhile worked intensively on the government's response to a U.S. protest note and damage claim for a Feb. 14 incident involving a Peruvian patrol boat and two California tuna clippers.

The Peruvian navy has said in two official statements that only "intimidating rifle fire" was levelled at the San Juan. The U.S., however, has demanded payment of $50,000 in damages.

Computer Web Expanded

MONTREAL (CP) — Canadian Pacific and Canadian National railways soon will launch a Canada-wide computer-communications network to provide an expanded range of computer-based services, it was announced Wednesday.

The announcement was made following the acquisition of control by the two companies of Computer Sciences Canada

Ltd., a subsidiary of Computer Sciences Corp. of Los Angeles.

The CNR and Canadian Pacific each purchased for an undisclosed amount of cash 25.5 per cent of the shares of the computer firm from its American parent which will retain the remaining 49-per-cent interest.

The parent company is an international firm involved in computer system design and programming, computer time-sharing and other forms of data processing and related services.

W. J. Stenson, CPR vice-president, and R. H. Tarr, CN vice-president, told a news conference the new computer-communications operation will go into service in four to six weeks.

They said they believe it is the first time that a communications company and a computer company joined forces to set up a computer service.

Tarr said the new arrangement "provides a strong Canada-wide organization with the technical knowledge and the marketing initiative to serve the increasing information needs of business, scientific and government groups."

M. G. Goudge, president of Computer Sciences Canada, will continue in his capacity under the new arrangements.

He said his staff of about 60 is expected to be tripled within a year.

The volume of computer service business is expected to increase eightfold in the next 10 years.

Among the largest users of Computer Sciences Canada services are the big oil companies in Western Canada.

CN-C-P Telecommunications operates an extensive network of communications services throughout Canada, including joint operation of a Broadbank exchange service which provides voice communication and high-speed data transmission required for advanced computer-communications links.

Computer Sciences Canada began operations in August, 1967, providing a full range of the services offered by the parent company in the United States, Europe and Asia. The Canadian company has offices in Ottawa, Toronto, Calgary and Vancouver.

Pueblo Marine Tells Story

Fake Suicide Put End to Torture

CORONADO, Calif. (UPI) — Driven to despair by fierce beatings from North Korean guards, a marine sprang from the USS Pueblo shashed his wrists in a fake suicide try. The shocked communists called off his torture.

Testimony given in secret by Sgt. Robert Hammond, 23, of Cornish, N.H., was made public in an edited version by the navy Wednesday.

Hammond and the Pueblo's only other marine, Sgt. Robert Chica, 24, of Chillum Terrace, Md., testified behind closed doors Tuesday before a five-admiral court of inquiry into the Pueblo affair.

Testifying that he grew "quite terrorized" and saw no end to the captivity, Hammond said he began to think about suicide. He first planned to attack his guards in hopes he would be killed "and take a couple with me."

The strategy he eventually adopted was almost too successful, Hammond related. He broke a mirror and slashed his wrists while lying in his cot at night. The marine said he bled so profusely he thought he might really die.

The bleeding finally slowed and communist jailers found him lying in a blood-soaked bunk.

"I told the guard he was chicken because he wouldn't kill me," Hammond said.

He was forced to get up and clean up the mess. The marine said he later was "bawled out" by North Korean officers but the torture came to an end.

Eight more Pueblo enlisted men told their stories in open court Wednesday. A ninth testified in secret.

A sailor whose job in battle was to fire the .50 calibre machine guns in the forward part of the ship said the weapons were poorly placed and the crew had little training in using them.

"The way the guns were mounted they were no good," said Engineman Roy Maggard, 23, Olivehurst, Calif.

Hammond and Chica are believed to have been the only men on the Pueblo with Korean language training. Hammond and Chica both said there was no treacherous behavior by members of the Pueblo crew, though Chica told the court that "some people were more passive than others."

State Completes Its Case Against Sirhan

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The state ended its case against Sirhan Sirhan Wednesday after calling 56 witnesses to back the charge the young Arab immigrant plotted and executed the murder of Sen. Robert Kennedy.

Dr. Thomas Noguchi, Los Angeles coroner, was the final witness. He testified Kennedy's death resulted from a gunshot wound in the brain and the bullet was fired at a distance very close to Kennedy's head.

One of the last witnesses, a police officer of 15 years' experience, testified Sirhan was one of the most alert and intelligent persons he had ever interrogated. His testimony hit at the defence contention that Sirhan was in a sort of trance and intoxicated at the time Kennedy was shot on June 5, 1968.

The trial was recessed until Friday morning when the defence will start presenting its case with the first witnesses expected to be Sirhan's mother and two brothers.

Sirhan is expected to take the witness stand early next week. The defendant was under orders from the judge Wednesday to suppress his emotional outbursts in the courtroom.

The prosecution did not formally rest its case but as deputy District Attorney Lynn Compton explained there was some "housekeeping" to do with regard to a few more exhibits to be entered into the trial record.

The next-to-last witness was Dr. Faustin Bazilauskas, who described treating Sen. Kennedy in the emergency ward of Central Receiving Hospital a few minutes after he was shot.

Lt. William Jordan, a 15-year veteran with the Los Angeles police department, testified he was struck by the alertness and intelligence of Sirhan.

Jordan questioned the 24-year-old defendant at Rampart station early on June 5 a short time after Kennedy was mortally wounded at the Ambassador Hotel.

Jordan testified Sirhan was so suspicious he asked the officer to taste coffee before he would drink it.

St. Joseph's Leaps Into Electronic Age

By DON GAIN

Cine cameras, videotape and television have invaded St. Joseph's Hospital in its latest leap into the electronic age. It's all part of the updating of the hospital's radiology department and the first phase has just been completed at a cost of $275,000. Gone are the days of blurred conventional x-ray films and the time-wasting adaptation of doctors' eyes to the dark before they can read fluoroscopes, says

Dr. F. G. Stuart, director of the radiology department.

Cine cameras and videotape recorders now permit detailed study of many vital functions where examination previously was handicapped by blurring on conventional x-ray films due to motion such as the rapid beating of the heart. The still photo now is clear, Dr. Stuart said, and interpretation is much easier.

Radiologists can dispense now with spending valuable time preparing their eyes to read fluoroscopes in the dark. They have had to wear special glasses for as long as 15 minutes, getting their eyes ready for "dark vision."

Now they watch the action on a television screen. It has been accomplished by replacing the old-fashioned flat fluoroscopic screen by image-intensifier systems and close-circuit television to obtain an improved image of the patient's internal organs. It can be viewed under daylight conditions instead of in total darkness as formerly.

This has the twofold advantage of reducing the dose of radiation to the patient and speeding up the examination because the radiologist doesn't have to prepare his eyes for it. In all, three new X-ray units have been installed. Two of them are 100-milliamperes, three-phase Westinghouse radiographic units and the third is a Philips Polytone of 500-milliamperes capacity.

These units are used for a wide range of routine radiological examinations—chest for detection of pneumonia, bones for fractures, kidneys and gall bladders for stones.

In addition, special accessory equipment has been installed for use in conjunction with the new X-ray units to aid in the diagnosis of diseases of the heart and blood vessels. These diseases are responsible for heart attacks and other disabilities. The same equipment is also available for the diagnosis of tumors and other conditions affecting the brain and spinal cord.

To handle the highly technical and surgical details of these special examinations, a registered surgical nurse has been added to the staff of the department.

The Philips Polytone is a highly specialized x-ray unit which can focus on selected layers of the body. This is especially useful for the study of the inner ear, which is situated deeply within the skull.

The x-ray department area has been enlarged by about 50 per cent, providing six instead of four radiographic rooms. The work has taken about 10 months. It was done in carefully planned stages to allow uninterrupted operation of the department during construction.

Dr. Stuart said that efficiency throughout the department had been further improved by the installation of Kodak X-Omat processors which develop x-ray films in 90 seconds, compared to 20 or 30 minutes formerly required by manual methods.

Dr. Stuart said the second phase of the expansion and renovation program, to improve offices, patient waiting rooms and other areas, will start soon.

Asked what other piece of equipment he would like if he could afford it, he said, "A sophisticated, high pressure injector for cardiac studies," costing about $10,000.

He said it would give the department maximum use for minimum cost. "That's what we're after," he said.

Our Principals

Newcomer to Area Of Pioneer Stock

James Robert Ellis is a newcomer to Greater Victoria schools, having been named principal of Margaret Jenkins elementary last September and coming from the Okanagan. He was born at Merritt, the grandson of a pioneer in the Nicola Valley, and as a child moved with his family to Vancouver. There he attended elementary and high schools, and his enjoyment of school and a series of very fine teachers led him to follow the same profession.

BEAR VALLEY

He trained at Vancouver's old Provincial Normal School, and took his first post at Bear Valley in the Cariboo for one year, then a similar post at Soda Creek.

After a period teaching intermediate grades at Lillooet he returned to UBC to win his BA degree in classical languages before taking a teaching post at Penticton. He spent 11 or 12 years in elementary schools there, then was named principal of a new school at nearby West Bench.

Mr. Ellis was one of a group of principals from all across Canada to win Kellogg Foundation scholarships for a year at the University of Alberta, where the work concentrated on consultation in teacher-training and administrative training.

PILOT PROJECT

Returning to Penticton, Mr. Ellis spent another year at West Bench before his appointment to a new school, Nkwala, which became a pilot project for a report on teacher utilization. He was at Nkwala for two years before accepting the Victoria posting.

He was married (to a teacher) while in the Okanagan, and the Ellises have two children, a boy and a girl.

Mr. Ellis counts gardening as his main hobby. In the Okanagan their home included a small orchard, principally apricots—and they still have a summer place near Penticton with some fruit trees.

Leaning to the outdoors, his other hobbies include hiking and (naturally in his profession) reading.—E.M.S.

School Art On Display

The art of Greater Victoria children from elementary to high school will be displayed in early May at a show in the provincial museum's Newcombe Auditorium.

Museum and school district officials are firming arrangements for the show, which hasn't been assigned a date yet.

Garden Club

The Saanich 4-H Garden Club had its organization meeting Sunday. Election of officers was postponed until March 18.

Defence Claims Accused 'Close' to Diefenbaker

MONTREAL (CP) — A lawyer representing Roosevelt Douglas, one of 87 adults charged in connection with a $2,000,000 damage spree at Sir George Williams University two weeks ago, told a courtroom Wednesday that the accused is a "card-carrying member of the party" and an acquaintance of John Diefenbaker.

Pierre Lacaille, legal counsel for Douglas, 27, of the island of Dominica in the West Indies, said his client had "actively campaigned" for the Progressive Conservative party in the 1968 federal election.

Lacaille was applying for bail on behalf of Douglas, one of nine persons denied bail and held in jail since arrest Feb. 11. The 87 adults were charged with conspiracy to commit arson and damage property after a peaceful two-week occupation of the university's computer centre erupted into a smashing and burning spree early Feb. 11.

The occupation was in protest of the makeup of a university committee hearing charges of racism levelled against an assistant biology professor by six West Indian students.

LOITERING CHARGE

In his representation for bail, Lacaille told Judge Emmett J. McNamany, Douglas was in Halifax last December "addressing students on racial issues" when he was arrested and charged for loitering.

"John Diefenbaker heard and personally called the police in Halifax. He and Mr. Douglas are closely known to each other."

Douglas, along with seven others denied bail last week, were again refused by Judge McNamany Wednesday and their preliminary hearing was set for March 5.

A ninth person in jail since his arrest is 29-year-old Kennedy J. Frederick, whose preliminary hearing resumes today after being interrupted Wednesday to hear bail applications.

In other developments Wednesday, charges against two of the 89 accused were dropped after the prosecution told the court that evidence against the two did not "warrant the charges as laid."

The two are Dennis Kaye, 22, of New York City and Howard Freed, 21, of Montreal.

Preliminary hearings for 74 of the 87 accused were postponed Wednesday to April 14.

Student Anger Turning Against Demonstrators

From UPI

Six students at Rutgers University, angered by the seizure of a classroom building on the school's Newark, N.J., campus by 40 black students, filed criminal complaints against the dissidents with police.

At Michigan State University, a petition deploring violence on the campus rapidly gathered 12,000 signatures from students en route to a goal of 15,000. "It shows us you care," beamed a state senator as he took the senate floor in Lansing to praise the student drive.

On the West Coast, 173 athletes at Oregon State signed their names to a statement supporting a coach's directive ordering a black football player to shave his beard — a directive that has caused the 37 black students at the 13,000-student school to threaten a class boycott.

Thus protests against the protesters mounted on troubled college campuses across the U.S. Wednesday.

The American Legion and veterans of foreign wars in Pennsylvania joined in the counter-protests, dishing out some pointed criticism of the University of Pennsylvania for "knuckling under" to demands of students.

The organizations, representing some 450,000 veterans in Pennsylvania, predicted a taxpayers' revolt and asked the university to withdraw recognition of the radical Students for a Democratic Society "and any other organization which seeks to disrupt the university."

Alumni of Stillman College in Tusculooa, Ala., where about 50 students at the Negro school have persisted in their sit-in despite the closing of the college, endorsed the actions of Stillman president Dr. Harold Stinson in handling the protest.

Placards in Trinidad Bar Michener's Way

PORT OF SPAIN (AP) — Placard-bearing students of the Trinidad branch of the University of the West Indies Wednesday formed a human wall at the entrance, forcing Canadian Governor-General Roland Michener to cancel his planned tour of the university campus.

New Home Recipe Reducing Plan

It's simple how quickly one may lose bulky fat and help regain slender more graceful curves; if you follow this home recipe you'll find it's easy, no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drug store and ask for four ounces of Naran Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Take two tablespoons full a day as needed and follow the Naran Plan.

Criminals May Be Moving In on Stocks

WASHINGTON (LAT) — There was a strong indication Wednesday from a congressman and from the president of the New York Stock Exchange that criminals have infiltrated brokerage houses and accentuated the paperwork jam by stealing securities. The question was put to Robert Haack, president of the New York exchange, during the second day of congressional hearings Wednesday.

His flustered reaction and his reluctance to discuss the subject publicly indicated criminals might indeed have extended their operations into the world's financial centre. The bombshell was dropped by Rep. John Murphy (D-N.Y.) during hearings by a House commerce subcommittee studying stock market problems.

After a series of routine questions to Haack, Murphy said: "There have been some intimations that part of the failure-to-deliver problem is caused by stolen securities. And (there is) even a hint that organized crime has moved in among all those new employees (NYSE member firms) have taken on to clear up the back-shop work."

It was clear that Haack, seated next to Gustave Levy, the exchange's chairman, was startled by the question. "This is a subject we are concerned with, and one which we are active in," he said. Then turning his head towards newsmen in the room, he said he would like to answer the question on an "off-the-record" basis. The reporters shook their heads, indicating that anything said in open session could be published.

Murphy asked the NYSE president if he would like to answer the question in a letter to the committee, and Haack accepted.

Murphy was asked if he had any indications criminals were stealing securities, and that these consequently turned up as delivery failures from one brokerage house to another. The congressman replied: "We have had information from people in the industry that this is going on." He added such stolen certificates could fraudulently be used as collateral for bank loans.

Haack declined to elaborate on the crime problem following his testimony. "We are looking into the whole problem of missing securities," he said. "It is a problem we are focussing on. We will send a letter to the committee."

John Cunningham, executive vice-president of the exchange, later explained Haack's reluctance to answer the question in open hearings.

"The more you say, the more of this you generate," he said. "It's like arming the enemy. It would be like disclosing battle plans in Vietnam."

New Hopes Raised For Son of Expo

MONTREAL (CP) — Agreement was announced Wednesday on a method of financing that would keep Montreal's Man and His World exhibition open this summer.

Lucien Saulnier, chairman of the Montreal executive committee, said city council will be asked Friday to approve a two-point scheme that would make it possible for the exhibition to operate for another year, at a financial risk to the city of about $3,000,000.

Saulnier said city council will be asked to approve a federal-provincial agreement on a proposal by Finance Minister Paul Dozois of Quebec, whereby the provincial government would assume up to $5,500,000 of the operating deficit of the exhibition.

The province made this offer on condition the federal government would agree to defer an equal amount from the monthly payments Quebec is making on its share of the Expo 67 deficit.

Annual Phlox

Most home gardeners these days have become so enamoured of the perennial phlox — particularly the glowing hybrids developed by the late Capt. Symons-Jeune in England — that we have almost forgotten the existence of its annual cousin, Phlox drummondii, so quick and easy to grow from seed.

This garden plant was developed originally from a Texas wildflower; in fact, Phlox drummondii is still sometimes nicknamed Pride of Texas. It gets its specific name, Drummond, from a Scottish minister and naturalist whose life work, in his writings, was to reconcile science with religion.

The plant breeders have been quietly doing their stuff with annual phlox over the past 30 years or so, and the varieties offered today bear little resemblance to the rather weedy and wishy-washy flowers I know as a boy. There are kinds and varieties listed in the modern seed catalogues suitable for almost any specific use in the garden, from the tiny six-inch edging plants to bedding and cut-flower types with stems up to 18 inches or more.

A good all-purpose strain of annual phlox is one known as Gigantea, compact enough for bedding or general garden decoration, yet with stems long enough for cutting. Standing 10 to 15 inches tall, the plants are strong and upright, with each stem carrying a heavy truss of florets or "pips" in shades of red, pink, yellow or white.

Burpee's Giant Tetra phlox was created by treating selected specimens with the chemical colchicine, an alkaloid poison extracted from the autumn crocus, which has the effect of doubling the number of chromosomes in the plant cells. These Tetra plants — short for tetraploid — are extraordinarily vigorous, with stronger, stouter stems, more blooms, bigger flower heads and the largest pips of any phlox, up to 1 1/4 inches across, some with a white eye.

The variety Glamour is especially good in a warm salmon shade with a cream-colored eye, and the flower heads are extra large, giving the appearance of miniature pink parasols over the rich green of its foliage.

Phlox drummondii nana compacta is a dwarf plant, very neat and compact, and standing only six inches high but with fine large florets, very good for small beds, window boxes and planters, pots and rock gardens, and as an edging for beds of taller flowers. Cinnabar and Fireball are good red shades, Isabelle is primrose yellow and Snowball is the purest white.

Probably the most publicized of all the annual phlox varieties is one called Twinkles. This is a dwarf plant too, standing only 5 to 6 inches tall, but with a difference. Instead of the usual phlox shape, the florets are star-shaped, with fantastically fringed and pointed petals, and flowering so profusely you can hardly see the plants for the blooms. The seeds are sold only in a mixture, mostly pastel shades, and many of the flowers will have eyes of contrasting colors.

I find it pays to treat Twinkles with a rather casual hand for best results. Given some coddling and a cozy indoor start, my plants lost their compactness and grew too tall and floppy, while seeds simply scattered on the bare soil outdoors put up a charming display all summer.

College Front Line

"You'd better get over to the Diamonds' right away," my wife said when I came home the other night.

"What's the trouble?"

"I don't know, but they sounded terribly upset."

I dashed over to the Diamond house and found Larry and Janet in the living room looking as if the world had fallen apart.

"What is it?" I asked.

"Billy got his notice," Janet said.

"He's been drafted?"

"It's worse," Larry said. "He's just been accepted for college."

"That couldn't be so bad."

"He's been accepted at the University of Wisconsin," Janet cried.

I didn't know what to say. Larry shook his head. "You work all your life for your children and then one day, out of the blue, they grab them and that's it."

"But even if they accepted him, he doesn't have to go," I said.

"You don't understand," Janet said. "He wants to go. He said he can't sit at home doing nothing when so many college kids are sacrificing so much on the campuses."

Larry said, "He wants to be where the action is."

"Billy always had a sense of duty," I said.

"I tried to talk him into going into the army instead," Larry told me. "But he said, 'Dad, I would be shirking my responsibilities. That's the coward's way out. I have to go where my friends are fighting.'"

Janet sobbed, "I told him to go into the army for four years and then perhaps the fighting on the campuses would be over. But he said, 'Mother, I could never face my children if they asked me some day what I did during the war on campus and I had to tell them I was in the army while it was going on.'"

"You have to be proud of him," I said.

"What do you mean, proud?" Larry said. "It's foolhardy. He doesn't know what he's getting into. All he sees is the glamour of it. The bluejeans and the dirty sweater and the beard."

"But I told him there's more to going to college than that. College is a dirty, miserable business, and it isn't just bands playing and flags waving and girls kissing you in the dormitories."

Janet nodded her head sadly. "I guess he saw too many TV programs about college riots and it went to his head."

Larry said, "Even as a little boy he always had his heart set on college. He used to stage sit-ins in the kitchen, and he picked our bedroom at night, and once he locked his grandfather in the bath-

SHEILAH GRAHAM

Nancy Cleans Up

Nancy Sinatra, Jr., won't need her father's fortune — although it's nice to know it's there. She has made her first million — from her TV special, Movin' with Nancy — it was bought by 32 countries. The added bonus was getting to know and falling in love with director Jack Haley, Jr.

Mini-skirts in London are so short they are classified as children's clothes and there is no tax on them. "Which is why," writes tiny Vikki Carr, "I am planning to buy a whole new wardrobe when I go to England next month for my concert tour."

Jordan told me that the famed New York discotheque started by his wife, Sybil, the ex-Mrs. Richard Burton, has paid 25 per cent to 74 lucky people who were in on the original investment. Nonetheless, Sybil and her husband are planning to close the New York branch of the coast-to-coast chain, "while still at the peak." Like a boxer who wants to walk out while he is still a champ. The Christophers are living in Malibu with his, hers, and their girls.

Frank Sinatra isn't the only one who moved away from the smog in Los Angeles. Bob Denver, shooting his Good Guys TV series here, sent his entire family to a farm in upstate New York to get away from it all. He commutes there weekends.

One of Tony Curtis' recent directors summed him up with, "Tony is a guy who wants to be slightly happy every minute of the day, and if not, he's depressed." Aren't most actors like this?

How come the Beatles were crying poverty a short while ago when Apple's American royalties of Hey Jude, and the last Beatles album were in the million-plus class? The Mr. Klein who is now managing them, also tells for The Rolling Stones. If it were politics they would call it conflict of interest.

Plastic Civilization DR. STUART ROSENBERG

Ours has been properly called a "cut-flower civilization."

One looks at the pretty shape and form of nature's bounty hemmed together in the pleasant bouquet. But you look again, and alas, the rose petal has fallen, its scent is gone and what was beautiful just yesterday, is tossed in the waste-basket today.

Nature's rapid death is a sorry spectacle, but we can, at least, look forward to the new flower to follow tomorrow, in nature's rebirth of bounty.

But we are impatient, and so we falsify nature by going one better—or so we think. No longer do we look to real flowers—they die too soon, and we can't wait for tomorrow.

We excel in producing "life-like" reproductions, plastic emblems of the unreal, which fool us into believing that they are true-to-life. And the more deceptive they are, the more real we come to regard the artificial.

But while we are capable of simulating truth in a hundred unusual but spurious ways, we can not effectively lie to nature.

Always, what is natural is true, and what only seems to be natural remains false. True or false—we can't live with both at the same time—choose one or the other!

Consider the artificialities of some of our homes. "Libraries" without books, living-rooms where none stay long with both at the same time—rooms with card tables but no real room for recreation.

Where there are no books, rooms we may call libraries do not exist in truth. (Indeed, not even with books—that remain untouched, or worse, unread.)

Without home-life—and the enough to live; recreation living rooms are not living rooms, at all. They cannot give us what we do not bring to them.

And if our sole recreation consists of games which may engage the mind but do not elevate the spirit, our "recreation room" will never be much more than a basement. Instead of rising higher, our "wreck-reaction" will keep us lower.

Or think how some require rewards for good deeds—rewards that are buried and are soon forgotten.

Without public recognition, some won't help their neighbors. Without fanfare and photos it is sometimes difficult to get politicians to do what they are should.

Lilies need no gilt, nor should decency require mirrored reflections leading to glit'ring public notice.

But without pictures and applause few modern charity campaigns have a chance at success! And the pity—there is so little true pity, only false pride.

Rewards for kindness are plastic labels, unreal badges that lose their meaning. Only love for love's sake. Decency, for goodness sake. Only these survive—because they are real.

Rummage for Gallery

Women's Committee of Art Gallery of Greater Victoria will hold annual rummage sale Saturday morning at gallery. Items include Japanese wicker tray displayed by Eileen Wilson, left, and 100-year-old copper coffee urn shown by Bette Patrick. Proceeds from sale will go to aid gallery's acquisition funds. —(William E. John)

School Grants

Seven Districts Missed the Boat

Seven B.C. school districts answer to Opposition Leader Robert Strachan's question to Education Minister Donald Brokenshire.

Chinese Concert

A Chinese concert featuring folk songs, dances and an opera will be held at the McPherson Playhouse at 7:30 p.m. Sunday to raise funds for the Chinese Public School in Victoria.

The annual event is part of the fund-raising campaign to meet expenses of the school attended by children of Victorian Chinese in the afternoon.

The concert will be given by students of the school and musicians from Vancouver.

Policemen, Firemen Will Clash at Arena

Firemen and policemen will clash at Memorial Arena at 6:30 p.m. March 5 for a worthy cause. Proceeds from the hockey game between RCMP Crushers and Langford Volunteer Fire Department Smoke Eaters will go toward the Toone Memorial Burns Unit in St. Joseph's Hospital. There will be no collection. Entrance to the arena will be through the rear doors.

Experiment Starts This Week

An experimental careers guidance program for high school students involving on-the-job experience will be launched Friday at the Institute of Adult Studies.

About 120 teenagers in grades 9 and 12 will hear 14 speakers experienced in fields the youngsters have expressed interest in.

In March, said organizer Rev. Walter Donald, the students will spend one to three days in city offices and plants. They will share in the work to see if their choice has been right.

The program is being co-sponsored by the Greater Victoria school board and radio station CFAX. Mr. Donald is CFAX's newly-appointed youth community programs director.

Also participating is the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, where Mr. Donald is chairman of the youth committee.

Mr. Donald said Wednesday that 60 students each were chosen from Mount Douglas senior high and Esquimalt junior high.

Seal Drive Soars Over Top

Victoria's Christmas Seal campaign collected nearly $42,000 this year, almost 25 per cent more than last year.

The campaign's success "will enable the British Columbia Tuberculosis-Christmas Seal Society to expand its services even more into the field of respiratory diseases such as emphysema, chronic bronchitis and asthma," as well as TB, said Eric Hall, chairman of the Victoria committee.

The provincial total reached $410,000, about $43,000 more than last year.

Mobile X-ray vans sponsored by the society will be at Port Alberni, Gold River, Revelstoke, Kamloops, Vernon, Salmon Arm, Enderby and several North Thompson River areas this spring.

Four-Hour Chess Tourney

Sooke Students Tackle Expert

Twenty young chess players from the Sooke school district put up a tough battle against a Vancouver Island expert at Elizabeth Fisher junior high Tuesday night.

After four hours of play in the simultaneous exhibition, Ray Kerr of Langford posted 18 wins and two draws against the Sooke district all-star student team.

Represented were Elizabeth Fisher with eight players, Edward Milne junior-senior high with seven and Dunsmuir junior high with five.

Those drawing against this year's Vancouver Open champion were Harry Moore from Elizabeth Fisher and David Durey from Dunsmuir.

Other students who competed: Elizabeth Fisher — John Sargison, Ross Hamilton, Tracy Cooper, Doug Crowther, Peter Schuht, Ray McNulty and Rodney Lyle.

Edward Milne — Steven Moffat, Jim Durken, Jeanette Robertson, David Smith, Tony Jacobs, Jim Bateman and Doug Lee.

Dunsmuir — Doug Collinge, Matthew Nicoll, Wolfgang Carosfeld and Jockell Carosfeld.

Incorporation 'Excuse' Not Enough

Mayor Hugh Curtis told the people of Colwood, Langford and Metcheson Wednesday that "an excuse for incorporation" would be unacceptable.

Mayor Hugh Stephen of Victoria said that was a fair statement of the regional board's opinion.

What Mayor Curtis may have referred to was suggested by the board's executive director, W. R. Long, who said an effort was being made to devise some alternate means of obtaining representation on the board.

Until this problem was resolved, a date should not be set for a byelection, he said.

Hospitals Reminded

Board Firmly in Charge

District hospitals were told Wednesday, politely but firmly, the regional hospital board is in charge of the show here and all plans must be cleared with the board before action is taken.

A letter will be forwarded to all hospitals pointing out that no sketch plans should be drawn by local institutions before agreement on the roles of the various hospitals is reached with the board.

At the same time, the regional hospital board will ask each institution to draw up a summary of its functions and place in the over-all district hospital construction program.

Mayor Ray Bryant, advisory committee chairman, said this would enable preparation of a master plan.

With that in hand, the regional hospital board could do something about cutting down the overlapping of services, Mayor Bryant said.

It emphasized that before any referendum was submitted, the role and functions of each hospital and the financial responsibilities should be made clear.

If any part of the program, as envisaged by separate hospitals, departed from specific recommendations of the Agnew-Peckham study, reasons should be given, the letter said.

An estimate of $256,574 was received from Royal Jubilee Hospital of the cost of medical and non-medical equipment which will be needed in 1969.

Contract Let For Big Mill

VANCOUVER (CP)—Eurocan Pulp and Paper Co. Ltd. has awarded a $20,000,000 contract to the Marwell division of Dillingham Corp. Canada Ltd. for construction work at Eurocan's $100,000,000 pulp mill.

The bid was the lowest of three for work on the Finnish-backed mill at Kistnait, 400 miles northwest of Vancouver. Its sawmill is to start operation in August and the pulp mill a year later.

Union Drivers Locked Out

VANCOUVER (CP) — The British Columbia Road Builders Association Wednesday began locking out union truck drivers and laborers across the province.

The action came after teamsters set up picket lines at Standard General Construction (International) Ltd. of Vancouver.

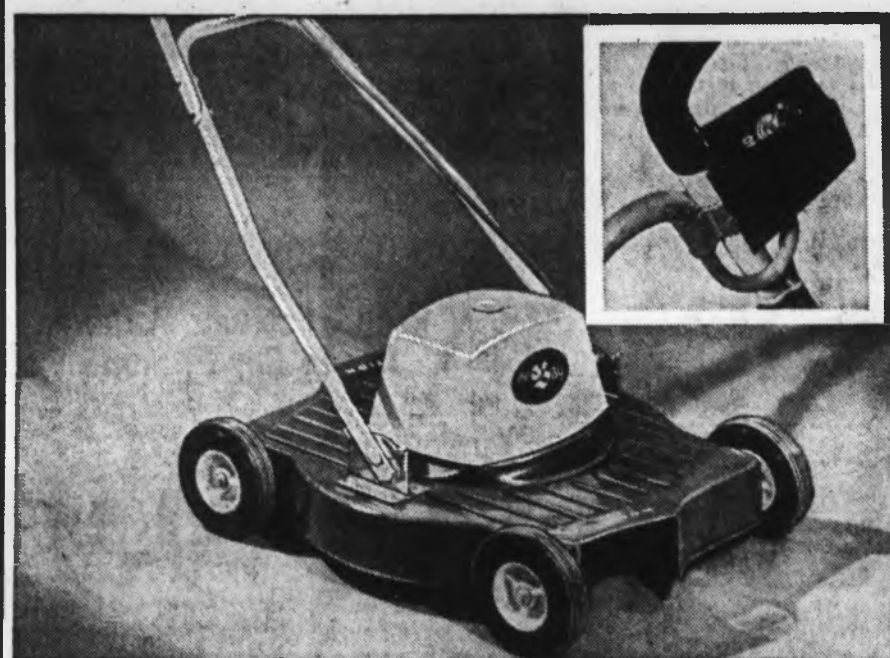

The association, representing more than a dozen firms, said lockout action would be taken against both teamster and members of the laborers union. The dispute is over teamster demands for a contract similar to that recently concluded in the heavy construction industry. In the settlement, following a nine-day strike against five firms, the teamsters won an 83-cent hourly wage boost over two years plus 15 to 20 cents an hour to cover the reduction in work week from 40 to 37½ hours.

Anderson Raps Trudeau Timing

Europe Tour Sparks Defence Fuss

OTTAWA (CP) — A decision by the Commons committee on defence and external affairs to proceed on a European tour before producing a report for Parliament was sharply denounced Wednesday by one of its members.

David Anderson, (L—Esquimalt-Saanich), suggested in an interview that the committee is being lax in proposing to make its report after rather than before its journey to Europe, scheduled for March 9-22.

He said it appears "extremely unlikely" the government will give any weight to the committee's report in its final formulation of Canadian policy toward NATO if the report is not submitted until March 26, the present deadline.

Prime Minister Trudeau has said the government would like to make its decision on NATO as far as possible in advance of the alliance's

Washington meeting which begins April 10.

However, under Commons questioning by Anderson last Friday, he disclosed that the government had scrapped a March 15 deadline to allow the committee time to frame its report.

The committee has been carrying on its own extensive review of Canadian foreign and defence policy simultaneously with one being conducted within the external affairs department.

Committee members, including chairman Ian Wahn (L—Toronto St. Paul's) are anxious that the committee's recommendations be taken

Victoria Curlers Still Unbeaten

Gordie Moore and his Victoria Curling Club rink of Dick Pick, Laurie Perlette and Joe Leibel won their fifth and sixth games Wednesday to stay ahead in the Canadian seniors' curling finals.

The unbeaten Victorians continued their streak of last-rock victories by defeating Prince Edward Island, 8-7, in an extra-end morning game and then scored a 7-6 victory over Alberta later.

Results kept Moore's rink half a game ahead of Ontario, which has won all five games. (See Page 14.)

Eshkol Mourned

Israel Faces Power Tug

From AP-Reuters

JERUSALEM — The sudden death of premier Levi Eshkol Wednesday has thrown Israel into an internal power struggle at one of the most critical times in the 20-year history of the state.

Some Arabs feared that the passing of Eshkol will turn loose the hawks. Arab-Israeli border incidents have recently escalated to alarming proportions.

Eshkol's death of a heart attack at 73 took the country by surprise, although he had suffered a heart attack Feb. 3 and been confined to his home since.

LIE IN STATE

Eshkol's body will lie in state today at Parliament Square in front of the Knesset or parliament building here. He will be buried on Mount Herzl here following a state funeral Friday.

For the time being, Deputy Premier Yigal Allon, an Oxford-educated former major-general, is in charge.

But the Knesset, Israel's parliament, must elect a new government to run the country until the national elections in November. Obviously, whoever holds the premiership over these months will be heavily favored to stay in power for a full term of four years.

There are three main candidates for interim premier: Allon, Defence Minister Moshe Dayan and former foreign minister Golda Meir. Israel's ambassador to the United States, Yitzhak Rabin, is probably an

Storms Close Schools

From CP

Blizzards buffeted most of Canada early Wednesday, with crippling snowfalls bypassing only British Columbia, Ontario, Prince Edward Island and Newfoundland.

Schools were closed and traffic was snarled in sections of Nova Scotia, large areas of Quebec and all three Prairie provinces.

A five-inch fall of wet snow in southern Alberta and Saskatchewan clogged equipment and hampered clearing operations, but officials reported highways "passable" by late afternoon.

Winds were as high as 70 miles an hour in some areas, with temperatures ranging from 10 below zero to 25 above.

Seized fishboat Kotoshiro Maru and captor Tanu

First Such Move On West Coast

PRINCE RUPERT (CP) — Canada, flexing her maritime muscles, is holding a Japanese fishboat seized in British Columbia coastal waters for fishing inside the 12-mile limit.

The 480-ton Kotoshiro Maru arrived in this northern B.C. port Wednesday under escort of the Canadian fisheries protection vessel Tanu after being seized by the Tanu the day before off the Queen Charlotte Islands.

Jim Connor, protection officer for the department of fisheries here, said that if charges were laid conviction on indictment could result in a $25,000 fine while a summary conviction could bring a $5,000 fine.

Either conviction could result also in forfeiture of the vessel or the cargo of about 159 tons of fish.

FIRST TIME

It is the first time Canada has arrested a foreign deep-sea fishing vessel off the west coast since fishboats from other countries started ranging across the Pacific Ocean to harvest the fish-rich continental shelf.

In 1964, Canada passed legislation announcing a policy of a three-mile territorial sea and a further nine-mile fishing zone based on straight base lines drawn from headland to headland.

For two years, action against foreign fishboats was limited to warning vessels caught inside the 12-mile fishing zone. A Russian fishing fleet was escorted out of territorial waters in 1966 and fishing gear left inside the 12-mile limit by a Japanese boat last year was confiscated.

VICTORIA SKIPPER

The arrest Tuesday came when the Tanu's Captain Reg McLellan of 3527 Cardiff, Victoria, spotted the 165-foot Japanese vessel operating 9½ miles off Hipsa Island, off the western fringe of the Queen Charlottes. Ottawa ordered the Tanu to arrest her.

With the international flag signal BFT—you are under arrest—fluttering from her yardarm, the Tanu closed the Kotoshiro Maru and escorted her to Prince Rupert.

Wednesday, the rusty white Japanese vessel was secured alongside the trim grey Tanu at the Canadian National Railways dock here while Canadian custody for such an agreement.

Court Order

Savings Firm Bankrupt

VANCOUVER (CP) — A judge ruled Wednesday that Commonwealth Savings Plan Ltd., a member of the troubled Commonwealth group, "has committed an act of bankruptcy" and its affairs should be wound up.

Mr. Justice Gordon Rae of British Columbia Supreme Court authorized A. D. Peter Stanley, receiver-manager of five Commonwealth group firms, to wind up the company's business.

He adjourned applications from Mr. Stanley asking that two other companies, Commonwealth Acceptance Corp. Ltd. and Commonwealth Investors Syndicate Ltd., also be declared bankrupt.

ASSETS FROZEN

Mr. Stanley had told the court he estimated deficiencies of $2,905,976 for Commonwealth Savings Plan, $7,059,453 for Commonwealth Acceptance Corp. Ltd., and $2,973,286 for Commonwealth Investors.

Assets of the companies were frozen last November and Mr. Stanley was appointed receiver-manager as the B.C. government opened a full investigation of affairs of the Commonwealth Trust group.

The B.C. government has offered an interest-free, five-year loan of up to $3,000,000 to keep Commonwealth Trust afloat — provided it first raises at least $1,000,000 itself.

Mr. Stanley was in the Bahamas attempting to stop what he termed in court an attempt by A. G. Duncan Cruik, former president of Commonwealth Trust, to gain control of a lush estate there.

Mail Loot May Hit $500,000

MONTREAL (CP) — Police forces all over Montreal Island were looking for a 1960 black Buick containing six armed, masked men who stole mail that could be valued at up to $500,000 in a lunch-hour hold-up Wednesday.

The lightning-fast robbery took place at 12:45 p.m. in the CNR's downtown Central Station.

No shots were fired and no one was injured.

Police said the men got away with 12 mail bags including one full of registered mail that could amount to "between $50,000 and $500,000."

Probe Focus in San Francisco

Murder Weapon Target As Divers Plunge Again

Divers returned Wednesday to the waters of the Inner Harbor at the foot of Fort Street, where they had found the body of missing Victoria businessman William Osland, 35, Tuesday afternoon.

They were "looking for anything that might be connected with the case, and that includes a murder weapon," said Ray Maitland, Victoria's deputy police chief.

Mr. Osland's body was found wrapped in plastic with a weight attached in 23 feet of water. He had been reported missing Feb. 3 by a business associate.

TWO INSPECTORS

The investigation shifted to San Francisco when two local police officers arrived by air in the California city. The murdered man was associated with a company that was renovating a former U.S. Navy supply ship. Preliminary work was done on the ship here and it left for San Francisco two days after Mr. Osland was reported missing.

San Francisco police said Wednesday two inspectors had been assigned to assist Victoria police with the investigation. In San Francisco, manager for Diversified Management and Development Co., Eddy Vanzanten, said:

"We have not been contacted by anyone from Victoria police so far, but the matter is so worrying that I will fly home Friday."

'CHARMING MAN'

The ship, formerly the Robert M. Emery, has been renamed the Se Tarantino, in honor of a partner in the venture, Joseph C. Tarantino.

"Mr. Tarantino is a charming man and a cousin of the mayor of San Francisco," said David Hummel, president of DMD. Mr. Hummel said he was totally mystified by the circumstances surrounding Mr. Osland's death. He added, "I believe Det.-Sgt. Robin Stewart has done a most efficient job in investigating this case."

Mr. Hummel explained that a study had been done of all the companies in which Mr. Osland was involved and everything was found to be in excellent order.

An inquest will be opened at McCall Bros. funeral home at 7:30 p.m., Friday, Victoria. Coroner Edmond Jorre de St. Jorre said medical evidence of Royal Jubilee Hospital Pathologist Dr. Kenneth Thornton would be heard, and the inquest would likely then be adjourned.

Seeks Pact

BRUSSELS (Reuters) — Argentina has issued a formal request to the six-member European Common Market for negotiation on a trade agreement, informed sources said. The sources said the request was the first by a Latin American country for such an agreement.

"If you're the President of the U.S. how come you don't say y'all?"

Fate Holds Surprise in Store

OTTAWA (CP) — J. O. Welton, a member of the tax appeal board, let his heart rule rather than some musty old law books, when he heard the case of Don and Lillian Gray. Don was 16 when he started to work as a clerk in a five-and-ten chain store, back in 1947. He married Lillian in Cranbrook, B.C., in 1952. He was then a store manager and he built a house with his own hands for his bride and himself.

Three years later, he was transferred to Biggar, Sask., and again built a house for Lillian and himself. By the time he was 30, he and Lillian had three children and had moved several times. Each time he built a new house himself, selling the old one and re-investing the proceeds. Then, in 1931, Don and Lillian decided to set out on their own business venture. They borrowed funds jointly from a bank to open Gray's Five Cent to One Dollar Store in Vanderhoof, 60 miles northwest of Prince George.

That year their sales totalled $20,000 and they paid out $191 in wages and paid off the bank loan.

The next year, their sales totalled nearly $42,000 and their wage bill—apart from their own labor—was $244. In 1963, their sales approached $60,000 and their wage bill was $655.

All this time, Don paid income taxes faithfully as the head of the family. But his business prospered to the point he needed an accountant's help. It was then decided to file separate returns for Don and Lillian, as partners in the store.

Island in Canadian, U.S. Publications

Tourism Ad Blitz Planned

DUNCAN — A major campaign to advertise the tourist attractions of Vancouver Island will be carried out this year in Canadian and American publications.

Members of the Vancouver Island publicity bureau were told at their sixth annual meeting in Duncan Wednesday that the cost of the campaign will be $38,551.

The meeting was attended by about 50 people from local governments and Chambers of Commerce on the Island and the Gulf Islands.

R. L. Colby, director of the travel industry department said, "I am satisfied that everybody is pulling together. In many ways this is a unique group. It is the only one in British Columbia."

President of the bureau, Ald. Walter Dodsworth, Oak Bay, said an orderly growth is needed in tourism and it is essential that all groups interested in tourism pool their ideas.

He said tourism has been important for Vancouver Island for many years and it is becoming even more important for everybody on the Island and the Gulf Islands because all businesses and municipalities benefit from a greater tourist flow.

Port Alice Ald. Gerry Furney, referring to north Vancouver

Island, said half of the Island has not yet been touched and people there are not fully aware of the tourism potential.

Nanaimo Mayor Frank Ney stated Americans have told him the biggest attraction of the Island is the lack of commercialism combined with unequalled beauty.

In his welcoming address, Duncan Mayor Jim Qualie said, "Being a relative newcomer to local politics I have been watching very closely during the past year the various methods used by mayors of other communities in publicizing their own areas."

"We don't have the great bathtub race, we don't have the Forbidden Plateau and we don't have the Butchart gardens or the wax museum, but we do have the one and only Cowichan Valley Forest Museum."

"Because we are the hub of the Cowichan Valley, known far and wide as the Friendly City, we intend to establish the fact that we are the most progressive city in British Columbia."

Ald. Dodsworth expressed his hope that $1 from an additional $3 provincial per capita grant to municipalities would be used for the promotion of tourism.

He referred to a bill now before the House stipulating the balance from $3 of the grant shall be applied to ambulance services and the encouragement of tourism, industrial development and other services.

Ald. Dodsworth was re-elected as president and the various zones will be represented by: J. Boulding, Campbell River, zone 1; George Manning, Courtenay, zone 2; E. L. Hammer, Port Alberni, zone 3; Craig Field, Qualicum Beach, zone 4; Mayor Frank Ney, Nanaimo, zone 5; Mrs. Maude James, Chemainus, zone 6; Mrs. Mary Backlund, Galiano Island, zone 7; Ald. Tom Christie, Victoria, zone 8; Ald. Dodsworth, Oak Bay, zone 9; Howard Traxler, Sooke, zone 10; Wilf Price, Sidney, zone 11; and Ald. Furney, Port Alice, zone 12.

Ryan Link

Finished Road In Sight?

COURTENAY — Word has come from Victoria that the controversial Ryan Road link Courtenay and CFB Comox may be completed this year.

Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell, MLA for Comox told Randy Klaver in Victoria Monday he was quite sure the Ryan Road would be completed this year, Mr. Klaver said.

PETITION PRESENTED
Mr. Klaver, past president of the Courtenay-Comox Chamber of Commerce went to Victoria to present a petition signed by "thousands of people" requesting that the Ryan Road be finished.

The road has been in a semi-completed state for some years. Mr. Klaver met with Mr. Campbell and with highways minister W. Black. He presented a copy of a letter sent by the city of Courtenay and pictures of the Ryan Road in its present condition.

Mr. Klaver said he stressed in his presentation the safety factor, pointing out the continued growth of Comox as a residential area, use of the Dyke Road by ferry traffic to Powell River and new subdivisions.

DISTANCE CLOCKED
He said he had clocked the distance of a return trip from Courtenay to the ferry slip at Little River and completion of the Ryan Road would mean a saving of six miles in travel.

On the topic of Forbidden Plateau road, Mr. Klaver was informed that definite improvements would be made this year.

Mrs. Fink reads old love letters

Wagon on Trail Relics' Tale

DUNCAN—Relics recalling a tedious, covered wagon trip in barren Saskatchewan, and a manuscript entitled Life on a Saskatchewan Homestead, were discovered in her home here by Mrs. Beryl Fink.

Mrs. Fink told the Colonist her father, Charles Althouse, who lived with her and her husband, died four years ago. "We never went through all of his belongings, and just the other day I went through a folder containing many interesting things."

"They are thin and worn and yellowed with age." The items she found (besides the manuscript written by her grandmother), include a receipt for a homestead which bears a Battleford, Sask., registration, and made out in her grandfather's name, Archie Althouse.

The Althouse family trip to their homestead from England in 1907 was described on a piece of paper. It told how they took a Canadian National train to Battleford, then went by covered wagon some 125 miles.

The wagon trip took two weeks.

Mrs. Fink found love letters dated 1885 and 1887 from her grandfather to her grandmother. She found them "most amusing."

Also discovered among her father's belongings were many photographs.

But Grants Lacking

School District Wants Taxes Paid by Month

LAKE COWICHAN — Lake Cowichan school district has requested the Lake Cowichan Village Council to remit school taxes pro-rated to the first of the year on a $7,000-a-month basis.

Village clerk Bill Chappell said this is the first year the school district has asked for the tax money in this manner.

NO REVENUE
"We do not start getting our government grants until April, and so have no revenue at the moment with which to make payments," Mr. Chappell said.

He said the council resolved Tuesday it would not borrow to provide the funds.

In previous years, he said, council had made the remittance in one or two payments in mid-year.

MONTHLY PAYMENTS
"That way," Mr. Chappell said, "the board has their money without waiting for monthly payments and the council did not have to borrow to finance its activities."

The village council is going to investigate methods of temporary financing for sewage disposal.

This is the result of the attendance of a M. McCrae of Associated Engineering Services Ltd. of Victoria at the council meeting.

"There are $79,000,000 in bonds of various B.C. municipalities that remain unsold," said Mr. Chappell.

TEMPORARY FINANCING
"That would mean ours would remain on the bottom. If temporary financing could be found the sewer bylaw will probably go before the people at the end of April."

The village has been working on the project for three years. The system would service 510 residents; 90 commercial businesses and schools and churches.

Cost is estimated at $750,000 plus financing charges over a period of 25 years.

"A normal 60-foot lot, which 95 per cent of the lots are, would cost the owner $81 a year

Phase Start Soon

DUNCAN — The Department of Public Works has been given approval by the treasury board to award a contract for the Duncan provincial building at an estimated cost to the province of $75,000.

A government release said the award would be to start phase 3 of the law courts complex in Duncan.

Phase 3 consists of a cylindrical five-storey building to house provincial administration offices.

Phases 1 and 2, including the law courts building, have been completed at a cost of about $400,000.

Total cost of the provincial building is estimated at $800,000.

Inquiry Planned

CUMBERLAND—RCMP have released the name of a 70-year-old resident found dead in his home by a member of the family 6:15 p.m. Tuesday.

Coroner Tom Menzies said only an inquiry will be held into the death of David Alwin Coldwell.

Liberals, Tories Meeting

No Opposition Expected To Durante Nomination

The president of the Comox-Alberni Liberal Association said Wednesday "indications are there will be no opposition" to the candidacy of Richard Durante for the riding byelection April 8.

Moe Bauche was commenting on preparations for the Liberal nominating meeting Friday which, he said, will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the Parksville Community Hall, and not in Courtenay as previously announced.

Preparations were also being made for the Progressive Conservative nominating meeting to be held in Campbell River at the Discovery Inn, starting at 6:30.

Opposition Leader Robert Stanfield will be the principal speaker.

Ron Basford, minister of consumer and commercial affairs, will be the main speaker at the Parksville Liberal meeting.

He will be accompanied by two other B.C. Members of Parliament, Robert Borrie of Prince George and Douglas Hogarth of New Westminster.

Arrangements have been made for buses to transport members of the riding Liberal Association in Port Alberni to the meeting.

The buses will leave from Port Alberni city hall at 6:30 p.m.

Delegates from Campbell River, Courtenay and Gold River are also expected to attend the Parksville meeting.

In Campbell River, Opposition Leader Stanfield is scheduled to arrive by charter aircraft about 4 p.m.

There will be a cocktail hour at the Discovery Inn from 5:30 p.m. to 6:30 p.m.

The nominating meeting, at which the Tory candidate in the June 25 election, Blair McLean is expected to be the major contender, will be followed by a dance.

Mr. Stanfield is scheduled to stay overnight in Campbell River and leave Saturday about 9 a.m.

Mr. Durante emerged the victor in last summer's general election, but the election was nullified this month by a Supreme Court decision that some servicemen in the area had voted illegally.

Kickoff March 7 In NDP Drive

● Douglas, Hellyer clash. Page 12.

PORT ALBERNI — National New Democratic Party leader T. C. Douglas will be in Port Alberni March 7 to kick off the campaign for Tom Barnett, NDP candidate in the Comox-Alberni byelection April 8.

The Friday night meeting will be of an informal nature. To be held in Echo 67 centre, it will take the form of a coffee party from 8 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Formal speeches starting at 9 p.m. will be as short as possible to provide for a longer than usual question period, NDP spokesmen said. The meeting will be open to everyone, whether or not they are members of the NDP constituency association.

Salt Spring Island Project

Idea for Centre Approved

The regional district board Wednesday approved in principle a plan to build a $250,000 community sports centre on Salt Spring Island.

No site has yet been chosen for the centre. If the proposal passes the board's finance committee, the Salt Spring Lions Club will be able to invoke the regional board's borrowing power to finance the scheme.

The centre would contain an ice surface 70 by 170 feet for skating, with the possibility of converting it to four rinks for curling.

There would be a heated outdoor swimming pool 36 by 75 feet, coffee bar, toilets and change rooms.

Salt Spring director Douglas Cavaye told the regional board that the Lions Club expected the sports centre to pay for itself.

He added that the whole matter was subject to consent by island voters, who would carry the cost, estimated at three mills or $26,000 a year.

Saanich Mayor Hugh Curtis said he could see no good reason to refuse the request.

Earnings Raised

VANCOUVER (CP) — Net earnings of MacMillan Bloedel Ltd. in 1968 increased to $38.799,447 in 1968 from $36,189,166 in 1967.

In an interim report to shareholders, J. V. Clyne, chairman and chief executive officer, said the increase, about 7 per cent, meant an increase per share from $1.74 in 1967 to $1.86 last year.

Sales and other income for 1968 totalled $584,490,606, an increase of about 8 per cent over 1967's $540,584,464.

'Play Ball' Cry Just Around Corner

This looks like preliminary staging for A-frame building, but despite deep snow still covering Gold River, municipal workers prepare for spring by starting erection of backstop on softball diamond at elementary school. Other playground equipment such as monkey bars and tetherball await real spring weather.—(Betty MacMillan)

Moore Does His Thing Again (And Again) in Senior Curling

HAMILTON (Special)—Gordie Moore, Dick Pick, Laurie Perlette and Joe Leibel not only did it again on Wednesday, they did it twice.

Winner of four last-rock decisions during the first two days of the Canadian seniors' curling championship, the Victoria Curling Club rink continued its hair-raising bid for the Seagram Stone with two more last-rock victories.

First, in the morning draw, Moore's 8-7, extra-end verdict over Dr. Wendell MacDonald and his Prince Edward Island champions from Charlottetown. Then, in the afternoon, a 7-6 victory over Gordon Walker's Alberta rink kept the Victorians a half game ahead of all Phillips and his Torontonians. Phillips, the only other unbeaten skip, ran his victory streak to five games with an 8-5 morning win over Saskatchewan and a 9-6 conquest of Manitoba in the afternoon.

On the home end, Walker hit a rock in the outside ring with his last shot and rolled to the side four-foot circle behind a long guard. Moore came around with firm tap-back weight and hit Walker's rock on the nose.

Bruins End Slump At Kings' Expense

Adding two more of their regulars to their lineup, Boston Bruins ended a four-game losing streak Wednesday night and took up pursuit of the flying Montreal Canadiens by defeating Los Angeles Kings, 4-2, in Los Angeles.

With Canadiens, who have won 12 and tied one of their last 15 games, clobbering Detroit Red Wings, 7-2, in Montreal, victory enabled Bruins to stay within four points in the National Hockey League's East Division.

LEAD COMEBACK

Leading the Boston comeback were John McKenzie, playing for the first time in three weeks, and Phil Esposito, returning to action after a two-game suspension.

McKenzie, who helped set up Fred Stanfield for Boston's first period goal, scored the winning goal with less than nine minutes left and then shot into an open net for the insurance goal with four seconds left.

Esposito resumed his bid for a point record by drawing assists on both of McKenzie's goals. Bobby Orr, who returned to the lineup last Sunday after missing almost two weeks, also drew assists on the two goals.

Canadiens stopped the Wings

with a devastating early attack which gave them a 5-0 lead in the first period, featured by the scoring of three goals in 40 seconds.

Because goalkeeper Roy Edwards came up with three or four brilliant saves and John Ferguson and Mickey Redmond missed open goals, it took Canadiens more than eight minutes to get results.

Ferguson finally produced a

Cournoyer fired in the rebound after a great play by Jean Beliveau at 12:50.

Richard got a second goal with aizzling shot at 18:30 and Canadiens, backed by a steady Lorne Worsley, eased their way in from there.

In other games Wednesday, Toronto Maple Leafs scored a 3-2 home-ice win over St. Louis Blues, New York Rangers bested Chicago Black Hawks, 5-3, on New York ice and the Seals won a wild 6-5 game from Minnesota North Stars in Oakland.

DEJORDY PREVENTS ROUT

Outshooting the West Division leaders, 39-20, Leafs had trouble with Glenn Hall and he didn't get their win until 89 seconds from time when Ron Ellis broke the tie. Ellis was put in by Norm Ullman, who also set up earlier goals by Paul Henderson and Floyd Smith.

Rangers, unbeaten at home in 12 games, outshot the Hawks, 54-25, and were prevented from making it a rout by the fine goaling of Denis DeJordy.

Bobby Hull scored his 43rd goal and drew assists on the other Chicago goals to move within eight points of Esposito in the individual point race. Hull has 85 points and Esposito, at 94, is within four of a record.

Rookie-centre Walt Tkaczuk assisted on four goals to tie a record.

Walton Rejoins Leafs

TORONTO — Mike Walton, who quit Toronto Maple Leafs last Wednesday because of differences with manager-coach Punch Imlach rejoined the Leafs Wednesday and played about 15 minutes in Toronto's 3-2 win over St. Louis Flyers.

Asked about the reconciliation, Imlach said: "Mike phoned me and asked if he could play tonight. I suggested he come down and we could talk it over, and he did. It's only fair if he feels that he can help the team that he should take him back. Everything happens for the best and I hope that this helps Mike along."

Wakeham Wins Berth In Doral Tournament

DORAL, Fla.—Victoria professional Bill Wakeham Wednesday qualified for his first crack at the big money in a Professional Golfers' Association tournament.

The 28-year-old Wakeham claimed the final berth in the $100,000 Doral Open by surviving an early-morning playoff with 18 other rivals.

Wakeham was one of 19 to tie for one berth and five "alternate" spots after carding a 73 Tuesday. Those shooting 72 or better qualified, and the Victoria pro just made the playoff by dropping an 18-foot birdie putt on the last green.

Two overnight withdrawals enabled Wednesday's 19-man field, who teed off at 5:15 a.m., to run for three berths. Two U.S. golfers picked off the first two spots with birdies on the first two holes.

Wakeham claimed the third spot by scoring a par three on a tough, 245-yard fourth playoff hole.

Defence Claims Accused 'Close' to Diefenbaker

MONTREAL (CP) — A lawyer representing Roosevelt Douglas, one of 87 adults charged in connection with a $2,000,000 damage spree at Sir George Williams University two weeks ago, told a courtroom Wednesday that the accused is a "card-carrying member of the party" and an acquaintance of John Diefenbaker.

Pierre Lacaille, legal counsel for Douglas, 27, of the island of Dominica in the West Indies, said his client had "actively campaigned" for the Progressive Conservative party in the 1968 federal election.

Lacaille was applying for bail on behalf of Douglas, one of nine persons denied bail and held in jail since arrest Feb. 11. The 87 adults were charged with conspiracy to commit arson and damage property after a peaceful two-week occupation of the university's computer centre erupted into a smashing and burning spree early Feb. 11.

The occupation was in protest of the makeup of a university committee hearing charges of racism leveled against an assistant biology professor by six West Indian students.

LOITERING CHARGE

In his representation for bail, Lacaille told Judge Emmett J. McManamy, Douglas was in Halifax last December "addressing students on racial issues" when he was arrested and charged for loitering.

"John Diefenbaker heard and personally called the police in Halifax. He and Mr. Douglas are closely known to each other."

Douglas, along with seven others denied bail last week, were again refused by Judge McManamy Wednesday and their preliminary hearing was set for March 5.

A ninth person in jail since his arrest is 29-year-old Kennedy J. Frederick, whose preliminary hearing resumes today after being interrupted Wednesday to hear bail applications.

In other developments Wednesday, charges against two of the 89 accused were dropped after the prosecution told the court that evidence against the two did not "warrant the charges as laid."

The two are Dennis Kaye, 22, of New York City and Howard Freed, 21, of Montreal. Preliminary hearings for 74 of the 87 accused were postponed Wednesday to April 14.

Student Anger Turning Against Demonstrators

From UPI

Six students at Rutgers University, angered by the seizure of a classroom building on the school's Newark, N.J., campus by 40 black students, filed criminal complaints against the dissidents with police.

At Michigan State University, a petition deploring violence on the campus rapidly gathered 12,000 signatures from students en route to a goal of 15,000. "It shows us you care," beamed a state senator as he took the senate floor in Lansing to praise the student drive.

On the West Coast, 173 athletes at Oregon State signed their names to a statement supporting a coach's directive ordering a black football player to shave his beard — a directive that has caused the 57 black students at the 13,000-student school to threaten a class boycott.

Thus protests against the protesters mounted on troubled college campuses across the U.S. Wednesday.

The American Legion and veterans of foreign wars in Pennsylvania joined in the counter-protests, dishing out some pointed criticism of the University of Pennsylvania for "knuckling under" to demands of students.

The organizations, representing some 450,000 veterans

in Pennsylvania, predicted a taxpayers' revolt and asked the university to withdraw recognition of the radical Students for a Democratic Society "and any other organization which seeks to disrupt the university."

Alumni of Stillman College in Tusculum, Ala., where about 50 students at the Negro school have persisted in their sit-in despite the closing of the college, endorsed the actions of Stillman president Dr. Harold Stinson in handling the protest.

PORT OF SPAIN (AP) — Placard-bearing students of the Trinidad branch of the University of the West Indies Wednesday formed a human wall at the entrance, forcing Canadian Governor-General Roland Michener to cancel his planned tour of the university campus.

New Home Recipe Reducing Plan

It's simple how quickly one may lose pounds of weight right in your own home. Make this home recipe yourself. It's easy, no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drug store and ask for four ounces of Naran Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Take two tablespoons full a day as needed and follow the Naran Plan.

If your first purchase does not show you a simple easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender more graceful curves; if excess fat don't disappear from neck, chin, arms, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow this easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloated disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

Gold River Projects

Sunday School Classes Popular with Children

GOLD RIVER — Nootka Mission Sunday School, started only three weeks ago, already has an enrolment of 94 children, aged between three and 13.

The school, which meets every Sunday in the community hall, was started by Mrs. John Steer, Mrs. Gary Long, Mr. and Mrs. C. Bolton, and Mrs. M. Copeland.

Mrs. Long said it was associated with the Nootka Mission at Esperanza, the Shantymian's Church at Tahsis and Uchelet Evangelical Church.

Mrs. Steer said the Uchelet Church, Campbell River Baptist Church and Camp Homewood had been helpful and had supplied enough material for classes for the next six months.

Five new teachers have joined the Sunday School. They are: Mrs. Keith Bennett, Mrs. John Homer, Mrs. Ian Hogarth, Mrs. M. LeSargent and Mrs. J. P. Lee.

There are also classes every Sunday in the new St. Peter and St. Paul's Church.

Mrs. David McKay said the children attended the first five to 10 minutes of the morning service and then left for their classrooms downstairs with teachers Mrs. D. N. Frewer, Debby Young, Kathy and Anna McGinnis, Debby Cooper and Heather Riddell.

Girls, over the age of 10, meet Tuesday nights in church for a half-hour class of study and discussion with Rev. David McKay.

Then they receive 30 minutes of craftwork instruction from Mrs. Carmen Cousineau.

They have just finished making paper flowers and Mrs. McKay says they will soon be working with marionettes, which includes making scenery, and staging shows with a religious theme for the Sunday School classes.

Tahsis Road Questioned In House

Premier Bennett told the Legislature Tuesday night that the access road to Tahsis is still under study.

His statement was in response to a question by David Stupich (NDP—Nanaimo) who said the NDP had carried out a "lengthy fight" to win an access road to the community.

Secondary School

Open House Soon

GOLD RIVER — Gold River secondary school will hold an open house Monday in connection with Education Week.

Principal Tom Ellwood said the evening would open with a brief talk on the curriculum, grade standards and student promotion policies.

The school will be open for inspection during the evening. Mr. Ellwood said that each teacher had been asked to prepare a short talk outlining objectives, content, standards and method of evaluating specific courses.

The crowning of Angie Popinga as Valentine queen and selection of Lynda Hynd and Jan Seidler as her princesses was the highlight of Carnival Week for students of the school.

Mistress of ceremonies was Grade 12 student Debby Young. Judges included Mrs. Tom Ellwood, Mrs. David McKay and Mrs. Bruce Chisholm.

Other activities during the carnival week included a bazaar which featured a sock-hop and fun booths, and a gala dance on the Friday evening.

Logging to Revive Dying Village

Ray Williston, lands and forests minister, said Tuesday a development agreement for the rich Artish timber area on the Island will save the dying village of Zeballos.

Zeballos, 185 miles northwest of Victoria, had a pre-war population of more than 2,000.

It now totals about 120 and the Zeballos iron mines are scheduled to close this spring.

Mr. Williston said Tahsis Co. Ltd. and Canadian Forest Products Ltd. will build a road that will link the community with Port Hardy and Alert Bay.

Mr. Williston said that under the agreement reached with the government Tahsis Co. will be allowed to harvest up to 30,000,000 board feet of timber a year and CFP 18,000,000 a year.

Jack Christenson, Tahsis president, said a road crew is in the area and construction will start soon.

Europe Tour Sparks Defence Fuss

OTTAWA (CP) — A decision by the Commons committee on defence and external affairs to proceed on a European tour before producing a report for Parliament was sharply denounced Wednesday by one of its members.

David Anderson, (L—Esquimalt-Saanich), suggested in an interview that the committee is being lax in proposing to make its report after rather than before its journey to Europe, scheduled for March 9-22.

He said it appears "extremely unlikely" the government will give any weight to the committee's report in its final formulation of Canadian policy toward NATO if the report is not submitted until March 26, the present deadline.

Prime Minister Trudeau has said the government would like to make its decision on NATO as far as possible in advance of the alliance's Washington meeting which begins April 10.

However, under Commons questioning by Anderson last Friday, he disclosed that the government had scrapped a March 15 deadline to allow the committee time to frame its report.

The committee has been carrying on its own extensive review of Canadian foreign and defence policy simultaneously with one being conducted within the external affairs department.

Committee members, including chairman Ian Wain (L—Toronto St. Paul's) are anxious that the committee's recommendations be taken

Victoria Curlers Still Unbeaten

Gordie Moore and his Victoria Curling Club rink of Dick Pick, Laurie Perlette and Joe Leibel won their fifth and sixth games Wednesday and stay ahead in the Canadian seniors' curling finals.

The unbeaten Victorians continued their streak of last-rock victories by defeating Prince Edward Island, 8-7, in an extra-end morning game and then scored a 7-6 victory over Alberta later.

Results kept Moor's rink half a game ahead of Ontario, which has won all five games. (See Page 14.)

Israel Faces Power Tug

● Old guard keeps reins in Israel. Page 5.

JERUSALEM (AP) — The sudden death of premier Levi Eshkol Wednesday has thrown Israel into an internal power struggle at one of the most critical times in the 20-year history of the state.

Allon

Some Arabs feared that the passing of Eshkol will turn loose the hawkish Arab-Israeli border incidents have recently escalated to alarming proportions.

Eshkol's death of a heart attack at 73 took the country by surprise, although he had suffered a heart attack Feb. 3 and been confined to his home since.

Eshkol's body will lie in state today at Parliament Square in front of the Knesset or parliament building here. He will be buried on Mount Herzl here following a state funeral Friday.

For the time being, Deputy Premier Yigal Allon, an Oxford-educated former major-general, is in charge.

But the Knesset, Israel's parliament, must elect a new government to run the country until the national elections in November. Obviously, whoever holds the premiership over these months will be heavily favored to stay in power for a full term of four years.

There are three main candidates for interim premier: Allon, Defence Minister Moshe Dayan and former foreign minister Golda Meir. Israel's ambassador to the United States, Yitzhak Rabin, is probably an

Storms Close Schools

From CP

Blizzards buffeted most of Canada early Wednesday, with crippling snowfalls, bypassing only British Columbia, Ontario, Prince Edward Island and Newfoundland.

Schools were closed and traffic was snarled in sections of Nova Scotia, large areas of Quebec and all three Prairie provinces.

A five-inch fall of wet snow in southern Alberta and Saskatchewan clogged equipment and hampered clearing operations, but officials reported highways "passable" by late afternoon.

Winds were as high as 70 miles an hour in some areas, with temperatures ranging from 10 below zero to 25 above.

West Coast's First Arrest

PRINCE RUPERT (CP) — Canada, flexing her maritime muscles, is holding a Japanese fishboat seized in British Columbia coastal waters for fishing inside the 12-mile limit.

The 480-ton Kotoshiro Maru arrived in this northern B.C. port Wednesday under escort of the Canadian fisheries protection vessel Tanu after being seized by the Tanu the day before off the Queen Charlotte Islands.

Jim Connor, protection officer for the department of fisheries here, said that if charges were laid conviction on indictment could result in a $25,000 fine while a summary conviction could bring a $5,000 fine.

Either conviction could result also in forfeiture of the vessel or the cargo of about 159 tons of fish.

FIRST TIME

It is the first time Canada has arrested a foreign deep-sea fishing vessel off the west coast since fishboats from other countries started ranging across the Pacific Ocean to harvest the fish-rich continental shelf.

In 1964, Canada passed legislation announcing a policy of a three-mile territorial sea and a further nine-mile fishing zone based on straight base lines drawn from headland to headland.

For two years, action against foreign fishboats was limited to warning vessels caught inside the 12-mile fishing zone. A Russian fishing fleet was escorted out of territorial waters in 1966 and fishing gear left inside the 12-mile limit by a Japanese boat last year was confiscated.

VICTORIA SKIPPER

The arrest Tuesday came when the Tanu's Captain Reg McLellan of 3527 Cardiff, Victoria, spotted the 165-foot Japanese vessel operating 9½ miles off Haida Island, on the western fringe of the Queen Charlottes.

Ottawa ordered the Tanu to arrest her.

With the international flag signal BFT—you are under arrest—fluttering from her yardarm, the Tanu closed the Kotoshiro Maru and escorted her to Prince Rupert.

Wednesday, the rusty white Japanese vessel was secured alongside the trim grey Tanu at the Canadian National Railways dock here while Canadian customs officers searched the vessel.

Mail Loot May Hit $500,000

MONTREAL (CP) — Police forces all over Montreal are looking for a 1960 black Buick containing six armed, masked men who stole mail that could be valued at up to $500,000 in a lunch-hour hold-up Wednesday.

The lightning-fast robbery took place at 12:45 p.m. in the CNR's downtown Central Station.

No shots were fired and no one was injured.

Police said the men got away with 12 mail bags including one full of registered mail that could amount to "between $50,000 and $500,000."

Court Order

Savings Firm Bankrupt

VANCOUVER (CP) — A judge ruled Wednesday that Commonwealth Savings Plan Ltd., a member of the troubled Commonwealth group, "has committed an act of bankruptcy" and its affairs should be wound up.

Mr. Justice Gordon Rae of British Columbia's Supreme Court authorized A. D. Peter Stanley, receiver-manager of five Commonwealth group firms, to wind up the company's business.

He adjourned applications from Mr. Stanley asking that two other companies, Commonwealth Acceptance Corp. Ltd. and Commonwealth Investors Syndicate Ltd., also be declared bankrupt.

ASSETS FROZEN

Mr. Stanley had told the court he estimated deficiencies of $2,905,976 for Commonwealth Savings Plan, $7,059,453 for Commonwealth Acceptance and $2,973,286 for Commonwealth Investors.

Assets of the companies were frozen last November and Mr. Stanley was appointed receiver-manager as the B.C. government opened a full investigation of affairs of the Commonwealth Trust group.

The B.C. government has ordered an interest-free, five-year loan of up to $3,000,000 to keep Commonwealth Trust afloat — provided it first raises at least $1,000,000 itself.

Mr. Stanley was in the Bahamas attempting to stop what he termed in court an attempt by A. G. Duncan Cruik, former president of Commonwealth Trust, to gain control of a lush estate there.

Probe Focus in San Francisco

Murder Weapon Target As Divers Plunge Again

Divers returned Wednesday to the waters of the Inner Harbor at the foot of Fort Street, where they had found the body of missing Victoria businessman William Osland, 35, Tuesday afternoon.

They were "looking for anything that might be connected with the case, and that includes a murder weapon," said Ray Maitland, Victoria's deputy police chief.

Mr. Osland's body was found wrapped in plastic with a weight attached in 23 feet of water. He had been reported missing Feb. 3 by a business associate.

TWO INSPECTORS

The investigation shifted to San Francisco when two local police officers arrived by air in the California city. The murdered man was associated with a company that was renovating a former U.S. Navy supply ship. Preliminary work was done on the ship here and it left for San Francisco two days after Mr. Osland was reported missing.

San Francisco police said Wednesday two inspectors had been assigned to assist Victoria police with the investigation.

In San Francisco, manager for Diversified Management and Development Co., Eddy Vanzanten, said:

"We have not been contacted by anyone from Victoria police so far, but the matter is so worrying that I will fly home Friday."

'CHARMING MAN'

The ship, formerly the Robert M. Emery, has been renamed the Ss Tarantino, in honor of a partner in the venture, Joseph C. Tarantino.

"Mr. Tarantino is a charming man and a cousin of the mayor of San Francisco," said David Hummel, president of DMD. Mr. Hummel said he was totally

efficient job in investigating this case."

An inquest will be opened at McCall Bros. funeral home at 7:30 p.m., Friday. Victoria Coroner Edmond Jorre de St. Jorre said medical evidence of Royal Jubilee Hospital pathologist Dr. Kenneth Thornton would be heard, and the inquest would likely then be adjourned.

Cong Halted

SAIGON (AP) — United States fighter-bombers dropping load after load of bombs and napalm apparently halted the deepest Viet Cong penetration toward Saigon of the five-day offensive, military authorities said today. (See earlier story, Page 10.)

Fate Holds Surprise in Store

OTTAWA (CP) — J. O. Weldon, a member of the tax appeal board, let his heart rule, rather than some musty old law books, when he heard the case of Don and Lillian Gray.

Don was 16 when he started to work as a clerk in a five-and-ten chain store, back in 1947. He married Lillian in Cranbrook, B.C., in 1952. He was then a store manager and he built a house with his own hands for his bride and himself.

Three years later, he was transferred to Biggar, Sask., and again built a house for Lillian and himself. By the time he was 30, he and Lillian had three children and had moved several times. Each time he built a new house himself, selling the old one and re-investing the proceeds.

Then, in 1961, Don and Lillian decided to set out on their own business venture. They borrowed funds jointly from a bank to open Gray's Five Cent to One Dollar Store in Vanderhoof, 60 miles northwest of Prince George.

That year their sales totalled $20,000 and they paid out $191 in wages—and paid off the bank loan.

The next year, their sales totalled nearly $42,000 and their wage bill—apart from their own labor—was $244. In 1963, their sales approached $60,000 and their wage bill was $655.

All this time, Don paid income taxes faithfully as the head of the family. But his business prospered to the point he needed an accountant's help. It was then decided to file separate returns for Don and Lillian, as partners in the store.
